

HUMAN MOTIVATORS

Current State

- No source of income
- Competent social skills but too many monetary hindrances.
- Not on the basketball team
- Poor athletic diet
- Do not own a laptop.
- I use a phone with a broken LCD display instead.

Why is it painful and frustrating?

- Can't attend events that involve expenses. Rely on parents getting paid for me to make moves.
- Have front row tickets to see my family struggle.
- Can not dress and smell like a G.
- I can't properly spin plates and get my share of experience in the sexual marketplace.
- The women I am attracted to are attracted but there's too much brokie smoke in the air for them to ignore.
- No one wants a brokie's time and effort.
- No freedom to manoeuvre because of constant financial demand from the world around.
- Sports are good for discipline and leadership. I can't finance basic sports necessities in their right seasons without losing momentum.
- I see all the people I look up eating meat bigger than their heads while I get the equivalent of two fist size chicken pieces in a week.
- I have to use my phone — with all its limited storage — for all my school, work and pleasure activities.

Future State

- A steady flow of income plus enough investments in assets to solidify my financial state as a family financial stronghold.
- Highly sought after individuals rely on me to provide value that they cannot do without.
- Different estates spread out in countries across the world.
- A submissive feminine woman that is a joy to be around, makes sandwiches and cooks stews that melt on my taste buds.
- Maybe a second submissive feminine woman like the first but with green eyes.

What makes it desirable and attractive?

- Freedom to move and interact physically with whoever I wish to no matter where they are in the world.
- Have enough money to where I don't have to think about how I am going to deal with the pain of being broke.
- Being depended on as "the man" or "clutch master" — to both men, women, my family or enemies — is a feeling that cannot be matched on this earth.
- I get the luxury of affording items that match my personality.
- The ability to tell whoever is with me, "pack your bags we need to leave. I have a mansion on the other side of the world you haven't seen yet. Trust me you'll love it."
- I don't have to deal with the "circumstances beyond our control" folly.
- I have the ability to be the unwavering rock and provider to a woman with the temperament of a 3-month-old golden retriever with a bell collar.
- Passing on my one-of-a-kind genes on with a woman I enjoy looking at.