

At the beginning of the story, Trisha's grandfather drizzled honey on the front of her book. Why?

How do the kids at Trisha's new school make her feel?

How do Mr. Falker and Ms. Plessy teach Trisha how to read?

What allows Trisha to believe in herself?

Why is drawing so important to Trisha?

Make one connection to the story.

Dear Mrs. Villiard

At the beginning of the story, Trisha's grandfather drizzled honey on the front of her book because _____. The kids at Trisha's new school make her feel _____. Mr. Falker and Ms. Plessy teach Trisha how to read by _____. Trisha begins to believe in herself when _____. Drawing is so important to Tricia because _____. One connection I can make to this story is _____.