Definitions

The table below contains definitions of technical terms that are used throughout the report.

Term	Definition
Affordable Housing	A housing development and/or unit that limits the rent or prices to below market rates, and restricts use of those units to households at certain income levels, in return for public and/ or private subsidy.
Area Median Income	A measure defined by the HUD that, generally, is used to determine affordable housing eligibility for households based on their county of residence and size (number of persons within the household) compared to the median income for a household of that size within a county.
Low Income Housing Tax Credit	Tax credits allocated to investors that contribute equity to affordable housing development and preservation projects by the Colorado Housing and Finance Authority. Investors may credit against their state or federal income taxes, depending on the type of credit allocated to the investor.
Public Housing	A specific type of affordable housing first created by the U.S. Congress through the enactment of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937. Public housing provides deeply affordable rental units for the lowest income Coloradans through annual capital and operating subsidies from HUD, and are operated by public housing authorities. Numerous federal laws limit the extent to which public housing units can be developed and constructed, as such they constitute a minority of Colorado's affordable housing stock.
Public Housing Authority	Quasi-governmental organizations that own and operate affordable housing, often administering voucher and public housing programs on behalf of HUD.

Private Activity Bonds	Bonds issued by or on behalf of a local or state government for the purpose of providing special financing benefits for qualified projects, often affordable housing developments. Interest earned on the bonds by investors is exempt from federal income taxes.
Re-syndication	Additional capital financing can be provided to existing affordable housing developments through re-syndication, or the allocation of new tax credits. This new infusion of equity, along with additional capital funds from the Division of Housing and other funders, has the effect of preserving the below market rates of the development and can often rehabilitate the existing units as well.
Resident-owned Community	A Resident-owned Community is a housing development where residents collectively own and manage the community, often utilizing a cooperative or condominium model, providing them with a greater say in decision-making. This model empowers residents and serves as an alternative to traditional landlord-controlled housing communities.
Single Family Owner Occupied Home Rehabilitation Program	A service offered by community based non-profit organizations that assists homeowners in repairing or updating the structure of their home or systems and components within it. Funds cover administrative, labor, and materials costs and can assist with everything from emergency repair to rehabilitation and modification to improve the health and safety of residents.

Supportive Housing	A housing unit, development or program that combines non-time-limited and low-barrier affordable housing assistance with wrap-around supportive services for people experiencing homelessness, as well as other people with disabilities.
Transitional Housing	A development that is designed to provide housing and appropriate supportive services to homeless persons to facilitate movement to independent living. The housing is short-term, typically less than 24 months. In addition to providing safe housing for those in need, other services are available to help participants become self-sufficient.
Voucher	Funding provided to a landlord, on behalf of a tenant, that covers a portion of their rent and utilities. Can take the form of a Tenant Based Voucher (TBV) which is attached to a household that may be used at the unit of their choice, or, conversely, a Project Based Voucher (PBV) which is attached to an individual unit.

Introduction

Mission

The Division of Housing (DOH) partners with local communities to create housing opportunities for Coloradans who face the greatest challenges to accessing affordable, safe and secure homes.

Working with the State Housing Board, DOH supports projects ranging from homelessness prevention to homeownership. Our work includes:

- Increasing and preserving Colorado's inventory of affordable housing
- Managing rental assistance vouchers
- Creating and supporting collaborative approaches to end homelessness
- Regulating Mobile Home Parks and the construction and installation of factory-built structures

Increasing the availability of safe, affordable housing in Colorado is DOH's top priority. DOH assists developers, housing authorities, non-profit agencies, and local governments in creating affordable housing through gap funding for acquisition, rehabilitation and new construction. These grants and loans are competitive and funding is based on timing, availability and department priorities.

Statutory Basis of Report

Governor Jared Polis enacted HB21-1028 into law on June 30, 2021, which created the Annual Public Report on Funding of Affordable Housing.

Preservation and Production (codified at 24-32-705.5 of Colorado Revised Statutes, or C.R.S.). This law requires the Department of Local Affairs (DOLA) to prepare a report in 2021, and each year thereafter, which is to be presented to its Joint Committees of Reference in the General Assembly at State Measurement for Accountable, Responsive, and Transparent Government Act (or SMART Act) hearings (generally held in January of each year) and published online. The scope of this report includes many, but not all, housing programs overseen by the Division of Housing within DOLA and particularly focuses on programs that fund the new construction, rehabilitation, or acquisition of rental or for-sale affordable housing, temporary or emergency housing such as shelters or transitional housing, and down payment assistance programs. More information on the statutory basis of this report may be found at C.R.S. 24-32-705.5.

Director's Letter

Dear Stakeholders,

As we reflect on the progress made in the past year, the Division of Housing is honored to present the Annual Report for State Fiscal Year 2022-23 (SFY23), spanning from July 1, 2022, to June 30, 2023.

This period has been marked by significant strides in affordable housing development, homeowner rehabilitation, and down payment assistance, resulting in the creation or preservation of 7,394 affordable housing opportunities, which also includes 40 assisted living units and 40 shelter beds.

The challenges faced by Coloradans in the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic and escalating housing costs persist, but we find solace in the turning of the page towards a future where affordable, safe, and secure homes are within reach for all. Our success is deeply rooted in historic investments in affordable housing, coupled with the unwavering commitment of our diverse partners - from non-profit organizations and housing authorities to developers, financial institutions, localities, and beyond.

In our commitment to operational excellence, the Division of Housing has worked through the backlog of grant and loan contracts it saw grow during the pandemic. DOH and its partners closed nearly $100 million of backlogged projects from July 1st through December 31st, 2023 for more than 2,000 housing units. This is in addition to DOH's ongoing work. We are dedicated to further enhancing the efficiency of our contracting process in the upcoming months to ensure the lasting impact of our collective work.

In a groundbreaking year, Colorado witnessed key shifts in affordable housing initiatives. The American Rescue Plan Act of 2022 played a pivotal role by enabling $400 million for transformative affordable housing programs. These initiatives, meticulously recommended by the Transformational Affordable Housing Task Force and approved by the state legislature in 2022, were effectively implemented with demand for their funding far exceeding available amounts.

Additionally, November 2022 saw the approval of Proposition 123 by voters, injecting substantial funding into six pivotal programs, two of which are managed by the Division of Housing. To access this funding, local and tribal governments committed to 3-year housing development goals, and the Division of Housing has already secured 202 commitments. These decisive changes underscore the commitment to advancing affordable housing solutions by the State and localities, marking a significant chapter in our ongoing mission.

Lastly, in the wake of the 2023 November election, Governor Polis convened a special legislative session resulting in the allocation of $30 million in emergency rental assistance (ERA), slated for distribution by June 30, 2024.

Alongside our progress and successes, it is important to recognize that despite the achievements of the past year, challenges persist in housing affordability. Many individuals still struggle to secure quality housing, develop new housing, or find shelter. We eagerly anticipate the new ideas, policies and programs that will enable the Division of Housing to continue addressing these pressing issues.

As we navigate the complexities of the present and look toward the future, the Division of Housing remains steadfast in its commitment to serving the people of Colorado. We extend our gratitude to all applicants and communities for their invaluable partnership, making our collective efforts and accomplishments possible.

Sincerely,

Alison George

Housing Needs

Ensuring access to affordable housing is a fundamental requirement for the well-being of all Coloradans, fostering safe and healthy living conditions while promoting financial security and economic opportunities. While strides have been made to address challenges related to affordable housing, as detailed in this report, considerable work remains as housing affordability continues to elude many. Over the past decade, the median cost of rent in Colorado has surged by 70%, from $939 to $1,594<sup>1</sup>, and the median home loan amount has seen a 57% increase, climbing from $207,000 to $325,000<sup>2</sup>. This rise in housing costs has profound implications for Coloradans, with an estimated 365,000 households dedicating more than half of their income to housing expenses, resulting in severe housing cost burdens<sup>3</sup>. These financial constraints make it exceedingly challenging for residents to meet other essential needs, such as healthcare, transportation, and education.

The journey for Coloradans to afford housing has been marked by fluctuations in recent years. Housing payment challenges peaked at 15-20% in 2020, decreased to 4-8% by April 2021, and further improved to 2-3% by May 2022, with occasional upticks to 5%<sup>4</sup>.

As housing costs have risen, so have incomes, albeit not enough to bridge the widening gap. Over the past decade, median household income in Colorado has increased by 49%, trailing behind the increases in both rent and home loan amounts<sup>5</sup>. Over the last decade, both renters and homeowners in Colorado have experienced a notable increase in the share of income allocated to housing expenses. Figure 1, presented below, depicts this trend by showing the percentage of income that would go towards housing if the average Coloradan purchased a house or started renting in each year using the median household income, median rent, median home value and average mortgage rate converted to a mortgage payment. What we find is a Coloradan household making the median income has essentially been priced out of buying most homes and will see renting as a much more attractive option. 2022 in particular saw a massive jump in the cost to buy a new home due to large increases in home value and interest rates.

Unfortunately, this trend is exacerbating. Looking at Figure 2 below we see the increase in household incomes has rarely kept up with the rise in home values or rental costs, with the years impacted by COVID-19 serving as an anomaly. Just about every year since 2013 has seen a greater growth in housing costs than income, broadening the gap and making housing increasingly more unaffordable.

Increasing housing supply is a common strategy to alleviate high housing costs. While the past 6 years has seen double the amount of housing units created than the previous 6 years, it still falls short. The most recent two years, 2021 and 2022, witnessed the highest production of housing units in this period, signaling progress<sup>6</sup>. However, this increased production has not kept pace with the state's growth, reflected in a 21% increase in jobs over the past decade<sup>7</sup> compared to a 15% increase in housing units during the same period. The resulting imbalance, where demand outpaces supply, contributes to the ongoing rise in housing costs. Certain areas, such as rural resort communities, face additional challenges as outside investors and second-home buyers diminish the housing supply, particularly in regions where availability is already limited.

The impact of high housing costs is pervasive, affecting urban and suburban areas with heightened job growth, resort areas with multimillion-dollar home prices and constrained rental inventory, and rural areas grappling with challenges in attracting developers. Notably, our most vulnerable citizens—individuals with disabilities, seniors, students, low-wage workers, and others—bear a disproportionate burden of high housing costs, facing severe housing cost challenges and formidable financial circumstances.

Housing Programs

DOH awards generally make up roughly 13% of the total capital stack of affordable housing development projects.

This means that every $1 of state and federal funds awarded by DOH is leveraged by about $7.69 in other funds. Most of these leveraged funds take the form of private debt and equity from investors such as local, regional, or national financial institutions; often in the form of equity contributed in return for federal or state Low Income Housing Tax Credits.

Philanthropic foundations often contribute grants and loans as well, as do cities and counties with their own local or federal funds.

DOH uses a variety of funding streams to make affordable housing programs and projects possible. The information in the pages that follow describes the distinguishing characteristics of these programs

Community Development Block Grant

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, born from the U.S. Congress's Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, remains a vital force in fortifying communities across Colorado. In its unwavering commitment to community development, the State allocates 1/3 of its CDBG funds to housing activities, encompassing down payment assistance, single-family owner-occupied home rehabilitation, and housing development and preservation. The remaining 2/3 fuels economic development, public facilities, and infrastructure initiatives. There are 23 jurisdictions in Colorado that receive their own allocations of CDBG funds directly from HUD including the cities of: Arvada, Aurora, Boulder, Broomfield, Castle Rock, Colorado Springs, Commerce City, Denver, Fort Collins, Grand Junction, Greeley, Lakewood, Longmont, Loveland, Pueblo, Thornton, and Westminster; the counties of Adams, Arapahoe, Douglas, El Paso, Jefferson, and Weld also receive their own allocations. These localities received about $27 million, or 74% of all CDBG funds allocated in Colorado in 2023.

Operated by the Department of Local Affairs and overseen by the Division of Local Government (DLG), the CDBG program empowers non-entitlement municipalities and counties. Its focus extends to critical projects like sewer systems, community centers, and health clinics, all designed to benefit residents, particularly those with lower incomes, and rejuvenate areas in need. Local governments, counties, and nonprofits are encouraged to explore grant opportunities to actively contribute to the improvement of their communities.

HOME Investment Partnership Program

The HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME) provides formula grants to states and localities to fund a wide range of activities including building, buying, and/or rehabilitating affordable housing for rental or homeownership or providing direct rental assistance to low-income people. HOME funds are awarded annually as formula grants to participating jurisdictions (PJs). The program's flexibility allows states and local governments to use HOME funds for grants, direct loans, loan guarantees or other forms of credit enhancements, or rental assistance or security deposits.

There are 10 other jurisdictions in Colorado that receive their own allocations of HOME funds directly from HUD including the cities of: Aurora, Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver, Fort Collins, Greeley and Pueblo in addition to the counties of Adams, Arapahoe, and Jefferson. These localities received about $12.4 million, or 64% of all HOME funds allocated in Colorado in 2023.

Housing Trust Fund

The Housing Trust Fund (HTF) provides grants to states to produce and preserve affordable housing for extremely low and very low-income households. HTF was created by the U.S. Congress through the enactment of the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008, HUD allocates HTF funds to states by formula annually. A State must use at least 80 percent of each annual grant for rental housing; up to 10 percent for homeownership; and up to 10 percent for the grantee's reasonable administrative and planning costs. HTF funds may be used for the production or preservation of affordable housing through acquisition, new construction, reconstruction, and/or rehabilitation. All HTF-assisted units are required to have a minimum affordability period of 30 years.

Proposition 123

In November 2022, Colorado voters passed Proposition 123, a ballot measure authorizing the state to retain money from existing state tax revenue to support affordable housing investment. Funds captured from the second half of the last fiscal year became available in early July 2023 to be deployed for the current fiscal year, and are split 60/40 between the Office of Economic Development and International Trade (OEDIT) and the Department of Local Affairs (DOLA), respectively. OEDIT manages the Affordable Housing Financing Fund, in partnership with Colorado Housing and Finance Authority (CHFA), which serves as Contract Administrator. More details about their fund activities are available at coloradoaffordablehousingfinancingfund.com. DOH manages the Affordable Housing Support Fund.

Affordable Housing Support Fund

Eligible entities such as non-profits, community land trusts, private entities, and local or tribal governments can apply for grants or loans from the $64 million in funding DOLA received for deployment in Fiscal Year 2023-2024. To qualify, any development projects or programs must be located in areas committed to increasing their affordable housing stock. The fund is divided into three programmatic areas: Affordable Homeownership, Serving Persons Experiencing Homelessness, and Local Planning Capacity Development. The first two programs are administered by DOH and the third by the Division of Local Government.

Homeownership Programs - $32M for FY 23-24

- Acquisition/New Construction/Rehabilitation: Awarded 4 projects $6.5M for 146 units
- Owner Repair: Underwriting applications for 3 entities to administer $6.5M in single family owner occupied funds
- Down Payment Assistance: Underwriting applications for 7 entities requesting $43M

Homelessness Programs - $28.8M for FY 23-24

Housing Development Grant

The Housing Development Grant (HDG) program, initiated by the General Assembly and administered by the Division of Housing (DOH), continues to play a pivotal role in addressing Colorado's housing challenges. Originally funded by a mix of General Funds, Cash Funds, and Reappropriated Funds, recent legislative changes, such as House Bill 19-1245 and House Bill 19-1322, have strengthened the program's financial sustainability and impact.

The program, since its inception, has evolved to meet the dynamic needs of our communities. Notably, House Bill 19-1245 increased the vendor fee, channeling additional revenue to the HDG, while House Bill 19-1322 enacted the transfer of funds from the unclaimed property trust fund. These changes display ongoing efforts to fortify the HDG, ensuring a robust mechanism to address diverse housing needs.

The HDG remains a pivotal program in enhancing affordable housing by providing funds for new construction, property acquisition, rehabilitation, foreclosure prevention, and acquiring housing and economic data to help advise the State Housing Board. With increased funding and strategic adjustments, the HDG stands as a powerful tool for positive change in Colorado's housing landscape, contributing to the overall well-being and prosperity of our communities.

Transformational Affordable Housing

In 2022, a set of affordable housing initiatives was enacted, made possible by the one-time funding allocated through the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021. From these funds disbursed to the State of Colorado in 2021, $400 million was designated for housing-related purposes. This led to the formation of the Transformational Affordable Housing Task Force to provide recommendations on the optimal allocation of these funds. Many of these recommendations received legislative approval in 2022. Implementation of these programs was well underway in 2023, and the Division has no recommendations regarding their future administration as required by sections 24-32-729(5), 24-32-731(10), and 24-32-732(6), C.R.S., at this time until all awards are made next year across the transformational programs:

Transformational Affordable Housing, Homeownership, and Workforce Housing Grant

Introducing the Transformational Affordable Housing, Homeownership, and Workforce Housing Grant Program, managed by the Division of Housing and established through House Bills 22-1304 and 22-1377. The program aims to support eligible applicants in developing, creating, or preserving affordable housing opportunities in their communities. Eligible uses include housing infrastructure development, gap financing, new homeownership projects, down payment assistance, preservation efforts, energy improvements, and land banking. Local governments and nonprofit community partners are eligible applicants. The program prioritizes applications fostering inclusivity, diversity, equity, and accessibility, seeking transformative projects that will significantly impact the affordable housing landscape within communities.

Transformational Homelessness Response

The Transformational Homelessness Response Program is also run by the Division of Housing and was enacted through both House Bills 22-1304 and 22-1377. The program aims to create a future where homelessness is rare and brief when it occurs, and no one gets left behind. Achieving this is done by advancing and implementing proven solutions and program models that reduce homelessness in a holistic and sustainable way by targeting many of the key underlying factors necessary for people to thrive: advance equity, improve overall well-being, connect to benefits and stable housing, and increase employable skills and experiences that allow individuals to meet their needs, pursue their goals, and achieve self-sufficiency. In addition to reducing homelessness, this NOFA aims to reduce public utilization costs, revitalize public spaces, and increase workforce opportunities.

Eligible applicants again include local governments and community partners like nonprofit organizations. The program also outlines a number of eligible models and activities including street outreach, emergency shelter, transitional housing, bridge housing, eviction prevention, rapid re-housing, permanent supportive housing, and even systems improvement activities like data collection.

Loan Program Resident-owned Communities

Enacted during the 2022 Regular Session, Senate Bill 22-160 introduced the Loan Program Resident-owned Communities. Aimed at preserving mobile home communities, this program established a revolving loan and grant system to empower mobile home owners in organizing and purchasing their mobile home parks. Under the jurisdiction of the Division of Housing within the Department of Local Affairs, this visionary program prioritizes community-driven solutions.

The Division has been tasked with selecting qualified administrators through an open and competitive process, ranging from two to three, to oversee the loan program. These administrators will employ funds from the program to provide loans to mobile home owners aspiring to acquire their parks. Simultaneously, the Division will institute a grant program, directing funds to nonprofit organizations offering technical assistance to eligible homeowners involved in community purchase endeavors. Another grant facet supports initiatives ensuring the long-term affordability of resident-owned parks, focusing on stabilizing lot rents and curbing rent increases.

At the core of this endeavor is the creation of the Mobile Home Park Resident Empowerment Loan and Grant Program Fund which will be kickstarted with $35 million. This financial injection ensures the continuous appropriation of funds to the Department for the implementation of the loan and grant program. Notably, a portion of the allocation is earmarked for the Office of the Governor for information technology services and the Department of Law for legal support, reinforcing the collaborative effort to make this program a catalyst for sustainable, resident-owned mobile home communities in Colorado.

Transformational Affordable Housing Revolving Loan Fund

The Transformational Affordable Housing Revolving Loan Fund (THLF), currently open for applications through the Colorado Department of Local Affairs and its Division of Housing, represents a critical initiative to address the state's housing crisis. With funding provided by SB22-159, the THLF offers low-interest, flexible, and below-market financing to developers and affordable housing providers. This financial support aims to facilitate the creation or preservation of housing accessible to a broad spectrum, ranging from extremely low income to middle income individuals and families throughout Colorado.

The THLF, established as a revolving loan program, emphasizes a diverse range of eligible projects. These include developing housing-related infrastructure, providing gap financing for housing development, increasing the supply of new affordable housing units, maintaining existing affordable housing through preservation and restoration efforts, financing energy improvements, and promoting permanent or long-term affordable homeownership opportunities. The program's priorities focus on projects that address local community needs, provide housing in underserved areas, align with state economic development goals, and ensure the long-term affordability of housing developments. With a commitment to generating returns on loans for future allocations, the THLF strives to create a sustainable and evergreen source of funding to significantly impact Colorado's affordable housing landscape. The program encourages eligible recipients, including local governments, for-profit developers, and community partners to actively participate in shaping the future of affordable housing in the state.

Reporting Methods

Included in this report are all projects and programs that were recommended, or not recommended, funding by Division of Housing staff in 2022-23 (SFY23), spanning from July 1, 2022, to June 30, 2023. Applications for funding that were submitted during this fiscal year, but did not receive an award or denial because they were still being processed by staff, will be published in the annual report next year.

In some cases awardees return to ask for more funding after the initial award has been approved. As to not display these situations as a new application entirely and duplicate reporting requirements, these have been marked as a “supplemental”. A similar complication can occur when clients receive funds from a DOH-subsidized Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI), but in the past have also received an award from a DOH loan fund for the same project. Again to not duplicate reporting requirements these have also been marked as “supplemental”.

These supplemental cases include data on the additional amount of funding awarded, but not the housing units because these were already reported in previous years. Applicants that were awarded funds for an original application and a supplemental funding request have their total funding amount reported if both occurred in the same fiscal year.

Financial Summary

This page contains financial information on the funding used by DOH to support the production and preservation of affordable and emergency housing. Data is only provided on awards, allocations, and appropriations for the most recent fiscal year, and only includes transactions concerning the programs described in the previous pages. Funds allocated, appropriated, or transferred to DOH are not necessarily awarded to grantees and borrowers in the same year that the funds are made available to DOH.

DOH housing development and preservation revenues and expenditures, State Fiscal Year 2022-23:

$417,277,732 appropriated, allocated, or transferred to DOH
$336,456,854 awarded by DOH to grantees & borrowers
$4,302,525 expended for administrative costs

This is because many funding sources are made continuously available to DOH, which allows projects and programs to be paired with the funds most suitable for each application in question, regardless of the year that funds were originally made available to DOH.

Because DOH has historically accepted applications on a monthly basis (as opposed to semi-annually) and, generally, applications are only submitted following in-depth technical assistance. This has the effect of maximizing the impact of funds on individual projects and broader communities.

An administrative staff of 25 full-time equivalents (FTE) are responsible for this housing development and preservation work, 12 term limited FTE specifically to support time limited transformational programs, and 12 vacant positions.

Caption: Units for awards to Mortgage Assistance in Southwest Colorado and Douglas County Home Ownership Program are projected loans, instead of units like the rest of the awards in this chart. Awards for supplemental funding requests have zero units listed, because these units were reported in previous fiscal years. The project Fruita Mews received funding for predevelopment in the previous fiscal year, and development this year - therefore its number of units is reported as zero as to not double count. The award to Urban Land Conservancy for Park Hill Campus Family Housing (formerly Johnson & Wales Family Housing) has zero units, as to not double count units for the same site credited to the applicant Archway Investment Corporation.
