Drive Safely For Your Holiday

www.carefultowing.com

What can I do instead of driving home after drinking at a party?

- Plan a sleepover ahead of time if you're drinking at a friend's house,
- Book a nearby hotely room,
- Etc.

Sometimes you would rather like to drive by yourself to your holiday destination instead of taking the train or the plane. Driving to your holiday destination can be fun where you can listen to music and have a flexible schedule. Here you can stop anywhere in between your trip to have a break. However it is important to follow a few tips so that you reach your destination safely.

The first and the foremost tip is that you should rest well before your trip. Research shows that even a 2 second distraction or feeling of sleepiness can lead to a fatal accident. So make sure you have rested well and you are fresh to start the day with a bang. You should never drink 7 hours before driving or while driving. You might have seen news about accidents happening in drunk driving cases. Many countries like the US have a heavy penalty for drunk driving and by the way why would you risk your life and the lives of your dear ones?

You should also get your car checked by a mechanic before you take it for a vacation. See that there is perfect air pressure in the tires and the spare tire is also perfect. The engine should be properly tuned up and the oil should also be replaced. Maybe you should get your car fully serviced if you have not done this since a long time. Many people also check out the weather from news so that they can prepare accordingly. In case the region through which you will be driving is experiencing rain, then you should keep waterproof stuff such as umbrella or windcheater handy. You should also check your wipers if they are working well and also drive cautiously in case rain is falling.

Keep all phone numbers handy such as road assistance, etc. Who knows you might need to call any of these people in an emergency. Always try to drive during the daylight hours and avoid driving at night at all costs. If the distance is long then you should leave early but try to reach before the sun sets. A first aid kit is also a must. See to it that nothing is missing from the first aid kit. If there is anything missing then get it replaced immediately. The first aid kit can be kept in the glow box or the boot. An emergency auto kit should also be kept in the boot. Who knows when you will get a flat tire and you will need the equipment to replace it with a spare tire. Do not attempt to talk on the phone while driving as it can distract your attention. You can play music in the car while driving but don't turn it to the highest volume. Music again should not be a distraction, rather it is something that has to be enjoyed. Do not forget to adjust your rear view mirrors and fasten your seat belt at all times.
