

“EJ, nice to meet you.”

Part One.

Full Name - Einar-Julius Beurnie

Nickname - Ennie (6/10 - most of the Marauder’s call him that, but he’s not a big fan of it.), EJ (8/10 - he prefers everyone to call him EJ. Despite his efforts most of his friends still call him Ennie.)

Preferred Name - EJ

DOB - November 24, 1959

Gender - male

Pronouns - he/him

Sexuality - pansexual

Part Two

“The hat must have seen more Gryffindor than Ravenclaw.. who am I to say it’s wrong?”

Face Claim: Tom Webb

House: Gryffindor

Family:

Elliot-Jupiter Beurnie (Father; his father is Santa Claus made wizard. The happiest man alive, also the kindest. Him and Einar are a long line of sons with the EJ name trend. Einar and Elliot don’t have the same ideals though.. Elliot is an emotion based man. Does everything from his heart, and does everything for the comfort of people. Einar is the complete opposite; he bases everything off of logic. He does everything for the good of people.)

Iris Beurnie (Mother; his mother was the one who he inherited his logic from. But, like him, she was sorted into Gryffindor. He’s a spitting image of his mother. Personality and all. They get along well enough, but Einar fights with his mother more than he fights with his father. She worked alongside Remus’s father before he died.)

Blood type: Pure-Blood

LI + Trope: enemies to lovers,, he fell first they fell harder

Part Three

“Whatever, Potter.”

MBTI: INTJ

Personality: EJ is a very strategic leader. Everything he’s said, he’s done is strategic. It’s honestly surprising he didn’t get into Ravenclaw. He’s not afraid of most people. Not even a Slytherine is intimidating to him. He's the type to make friends with everyone and anyone despite their background or house. Most consider him the friend of every house. He's definitely that kind of popular. Loved by all, if not then at least respected. To his closests friends he's seen as a calm and collected strategist. He's pretty much the opposite of impulsive. Despite that, he took the position of Beater on the Quidditch team. Most say he would've been an amazing seeker. He loves a challenge. It gives him motivation to complete tasks and get things done. Which is why he accepted the position of Beater, it's different from what he's used to, it could help him be in the moment rather than in his head.

Background/Home Life: He didn't have a bad childhood. In fact, compared to his cousin's childhood, it's been a blast. From an early age his parents were very lenient, they let him do what he was going to do; and only guided him when he was doing something not allowed at all. Despite the fact that his father and mother came from a highly renowned blood-line, his parents didn't expect much from him. They didn't expect him to be the top of his class, and they didn't expect him to be the best of the best at Quidditch. They just wanted him to be happy, and he appreciated that. Part of him was upset at them for letting the family down, for them to have everything and then waste it all on hopes that he would be able to find his own happiness without strict guidance.

Strengths: Puzzles,, leadership situations,, charms,, Quidditch,, protective spells,, using his charisma to get what he wants

Weaknesses: Defense against the dark arts,, potions,, herb growing,, not being challenged with tasks

Fears: his grandfather

Habits: square breathing when frustrated,, staring at a paper until it makes sense,, flourishing his bat before they start the match,, doing math in his head,, signing his name in cursive

Likes: coffee,, Quidditch,, snow,, reading,, keys,, family time,, chocolates,, chess,, challenging puzzles,, having control over a situation

Dislikes: someone fearing him,, spiders,, problems he can't solve,, asking for help

Patronus: St. Bernard

Wand: Dragon heartstring applewood 11 ½ inches

Quidditch: Beater

Part Four

“Kick ass, Sirius. No one does it better than you.”

Affiliation: Order of the Phoenix

Best Hogwarts Subject: Charms class

Worst Hogwarts Subject: defense against the dark arts

Death/Injury: He was one of the only Marauders to survive the war. He died of cancer a few years after.

Aesthetic: Light academic

Theme Song: The Bird Song by Noah Floersch

Mixtape: Saint Bernard (Lincoln Vlogs),, Are You Satisfied? (Maria and the Jewels),, Fable (Gigi Perez),, Alley Rose (Conan Gray)