For Next week:

ELA: Students will be sharing their Titanic information on Wednesday. We are continuing to work on our Collection 4: Making Your Voice Heard

In Language Arts, we will continue to work on phrases & clauses. As well as Greek and Latin root words.

Math: We are starting book 2 this week. The first chapter deals with exponents and the order of operations. Yay, MATH!

Science: Students have started their science fair projects and we will continue to work on those as well as the display boards for the science fair. If your student's group has not yet brought in a trifold board those absolutely have to be here by Wednesday at the latest.

Religion: We will continue to prepare our hearts for the season of Lent.

Social Studies: Great job on Ancient India Slides! We will begin Ancient Greece.

Vocabulary- We have moved on to Unit 10 in Vocab. The tentative date for our Unit 10 Vocab test will be until the following week.

Vocation Essay

Students worked very hard on their vocation essays these past few weeks. I had a great amount of essays that were amazing! I will be making copies and sending them to each parent by next Friday in their Friday folders. We have received notice that two students have moved on to the next round. We hope to hear great news in the next few weeks. Congratulations to Joey Gast & Emily Sheerin!
