

PENGEMBANGAN PULAU MIANGAS SEBAGAI KAWASAN PERBATASAN DALAM PERSPEKTIF GEOGRAFI POLITIK DAN PEMBANGUNAN

(Center , Bold, Palatino Linotype 14, max. 14 words)

First Author ^{a,1}, Second Author ^{b,2}, Third Author ^{c,3} (Center, Bold, Palatino Linotype 8)

^a Institution /affiliation, city, country,

^b Institution/affiliation, city, country ,

^c Institution/affiliation, city, country,

e-mail: xxxx@xxxx.xxx ¹, xxxx@xxxx.xxx ², xxxx@xxxx.xxx ³

Author, Affiliation, and e-mail (Center, Palatino Linotype 8)

Correspondence author: xxxxxx@xxxx.xxx

(Center, Palatino Linotype 8)

Keywords: ABSTRACT

keywords
consist of 3 to 5 words or phrases separated by commas.
semicolon.

Abstract is written in English The abstract should be presented concisely and accurately to determine its relevance to the research question. The abstract should be informative and fully coherent, providing a clear statement of the problem and the proposed approach or solution, and presenting the main findings and conclusions . The abstract should be 100 to 200 words long and written in the past tense . Keywords should also be included for use by indexing services. The use of keywords can improve the ease with which interested parties can find our articles .

1. INTRODUCTION

Manuscripts in the Indonesian Journal of Political Innovation (JIPI) are divided into four chapters . First, Introduction . The introduction should provide a clear background and problem statement, a review of the literature on the subject, the proposed research approach and/or design, and the research's novel value, namely innovation. The introduction should be understandable to colleagues from various disciplines. Second, Literature review. The literature review consists of concepts and/or theories relevant to the topic and/or discussion of the article. Literature reviews may be labeled according to the name of the concept and/or theory it discusses. The cited literature is recommended not less than 80% as primary and most recent literature. The second and subsequent paragraphs of the literature review should be indented. Third, Methods . The methods section should present and explain the methods used in the research, presenting the research instruments and objects along with explanations and the time required to conduct the research. Fourth, Results and Discussion . In this section, the author must present the research findings and their description. The manuscript in this section will be more interesting if The author completes it with pictures, tables, and equations. D a n final , Conclusion . Authors should present deductive reasoning and their explanations based on the research findings. Authors should also allow for suggestions for further research and researchers.

2. WRITING LAYOUT

Manuscripts must be submitted online in English through the Journal website. Authors are invited to register on the JIPI website to obtain a username and password for submission login. Registration allows authors to access submissions, track submissions, and receive information about the review process.

2.1 Manuscript processing

The main text format should not exceed 14 pages and should be written in Microsoft Office Word (.doc/.docx) format, with attached figures, tables, and equations (if available). The text should be written sequentially in a single column aligned to the right and left on A4 paper; the left, right, top, and bottom margins are 3 cm. Page numbers do not need to be included, as they will be reordered during the printing process.

2.2 Writing Format

The article title should be as few words as possible to accurately describe the manuscript's contents. Indexing and abstracting services rely on accurate titles, which then extract keywords useful for cross-referencing and computer searches. An inaccurately titled manuscript may never reach its intended audience, so create a specific title. Organizing and citing the bibliography using the American Psychological Association (APA) style for example (Smith, 2025), (Smith & Huntington, 2025), if there are three or more authors (Smith, et al., 2025), etc. References must be accompanied by a link to Mendeley Reference.

2.3 Subtitles level 1

Subtitles may only be presented at three levels. A fourth level is not permitted. For level 1 subtitles, they should be written in Palatino Linotype, bold, 10-point font, and single-spaced. The subtitle number should be written as two digits separated by a period.

2.3.1 Subtitle level 2

Level 2 subtitles are written in small caps, 10-point Palatino Linotype font, single-spaced. They are italicized and bold, and numbered with three digits separated by periods.

a) Subtitle level 3

Level 3 subtitles are written in small caps, 10-point Palatino Linotype font, single-spaced. They are bolded and italicized and have a letter in parentheses as their number.

b) Subtitle level 3

In each subheading, everything is written in left alignment.

3. WRITING STRUCTURE

The author's manuscript must include a title, abstract, keywords, and main text. Furthermore, the author must present tables, figures, and equations in a well-organized manner.

3.1 Title

The title of the manuscript should be concise and informative. Avoid abbreviations and synonyms (where possible). Academic titles and degrees should not be listed after the author's name.

3.2 Abstract

Write a brief abstract, no more than 200 words. The abstract should present the research objectives, key findings, and conclusions.

3.3 Keywords

Keywords consist of terms and concepts used in the research. Avoid abbreviations; 3-5 words are preferable; writers should use phrases. These phrases will be used for indexing purposes. Keywords should be written before the main text, separated by semicolons, in 3-5 words or phrases.

3.4 Main Text

The main text here is what was mentioned in the previous section, which consists of four parts .

3.4.1 Introduction (Use Palatino Linotype Font: 12pt, Bold)

As an introduction to the main text, the author must present the explanatory reasons for his research , which are written in the introduction. In this section, the background findings, Introduction, the author must present the purpose, background, and summary of the research findings and explain how they address the problem.

3.4.2. Literature review

The literature review consists of concepts and/or theories relevant to the topic and/or discussion of the article. Literature reviews may be labeled according to the name of the concept and/or theory it discusses. The cited literature is recommended not less than 80% as primary and most recent literature. The second and subsequent paragraphs of the literature review should be indented.

3.4.3. Method (Use Palatino Linotype Font: 12pt, Bold)

In the method, the research is described chronologically, including the approach. and types of research (qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods). To ensure the scientific validity of the explanation, the research description must include references.

3.4.4 Results and Discussion (Use Palatino Linotype Font: 12pt, Bold)

The results and discussion are presented scientifically and comprehensively . The discussion should examine the significance of the research findings. Avoid excessive citation and discussion of published literature. Results can be presented in the form of figures, graphs, tables, and other formats that facilitate reader understanding. The discussion can be divided into several subchapters.

3.4.5 Conclusion (Use Palatino Linotype Font: 12pt, Bold)

This section should be used to convince readers of the importance of the article. The conclusion may include suggestions or recommendations for further research by the researcher. Provide a statement of expectations as outlined in the "Introduction" chapter. This can ultimately lead into the "Results and Discussion" chapter, ensuring consistency. Furthermore, this statement can include perspectives on developing research findings and applying them to further research.

4. COMPLETENESS OF THE MANUSCRIPT

4.1 Tables or Graphs

Tables or graphs should be centered. For tables, they should be legible . Table titles should be written above the table and numbered sequentially by chapter (e.g., Table 1, Table 2). The first number indicates the chapter, and the second number after the period indicates the order of the table. Table titles should be written in 9-point Palatino Linotype font. For graphs, the image should be legible, and the table title should be written below the graph in 9-point Palatino Linotype italic font. The number format for graphs is similar to the table number.

Table 1. Write the table title here

Year	Party	Founder
1998	PDIP	Megawati Sukarnoputri
2022	Gelora Party	Anies Eyes

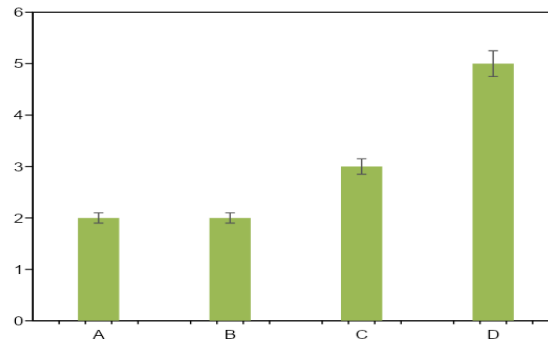

Figure 1. Write the title of the graph here

4.2 References

The primary references are international journals and proceedings . All references should be to the most relevant and up-to-date sources. References are written in APA style . References should be sorted alphabetically by author's last name. For example, Adam Smith (Smith, Adam), Muhammad Adam Smith (Smith, Muhammad Adam). Please use a consistent format for references; see the example below. Ensure a minimum of 20 references , with 80% coming from journal publications and not from Wikipedia, WordPress, or Blogspot articles . Authors must cite at least two articles from articles published in the JUPI Journal and three articles from Scopus Journals . All references must be cited in the text and must be included in the Mendeley Reference Manager .

4.2.1. Reference Writing Format from the book

Last name, first initial. (year of publication). Title of work. Publisher.

4.2.2. Reference Writing Format from Journals

Last name, first initial. (year of publication). Title of work. Name of journal, volume (number), pages.

4.2.3. Example of Writing References

Greene, Robert. (2021). The 48 Laws of Power. Binarupa Aksara.

Smith, Adam., Marx. (2000). Politics and Economic Power. JUPI, volume vol. 15, no. 6, pp. 401–410