

Zeon Solspoor

Race: Khajiit

Sex: Male

Appearance: black-panther-like fur, long ears, short hair, long fangs (due to Vampirism), glowing-orange eyes.

Class: Vampire Rouge (he often mixes his vampire powers with illusion/shadow magic and swordplay)

Personality: adventurous, but usually a loner. He rarely groups with others, but when he does he makes sure that he gives it his all. Unlike other Khajiit, he speaks in first-person, due to being raised by a bosmer family.

Preferences: Being an expert in dual combat, he wields two swords, and he usually keeps a bow for backup. Zeon doesn't waste time to let loose on his enemies, and uses everything from bites, slashes, and even his bare hands to do damage.

Allies: Amuil Geeltus (Friendly Rival), Maxwell Collins (Old Friend/Teacher), Vince Longmire (Old Ally), Ohm the Devout (Teacher), Azura (Pardon), Nocturnal (Pardon)

Enemies: Mannimarco (Betrayal), Molag Bal (Former Pardon), Anima (Dark Force)

Bio: Hated because of Vampirism, Zeon Solspoor used to be a foster child of a bosmer family after his parents were killed by bandit. Upon maturity, he contacted Vampirism, but a strange force saved him from the Night Stalker he had become, turning him into a Daywalker, a Vampire who doesn't feel the effects of the sun. Valued by many because of his unique condition, he is one of the few Vampires to have an active membership in both the Fighters Guild and the Mages Guild. Zeon is also an expert thief, and a silent killer when he wants to be. His constant shifting between the various guilds (including a brief period in which he was part of the Dark Brotherhood) eventually caught the attention of Maxwell Collins, who became his teacher and friend. However, differing methods eventually created a rift between them, and their mutual companionship came to a close, and also separated from Maxwell's foster child, Amuil, whom he cared for deeply.

His role as a student of Ohm the Devout placed him in the position to redeem his past mistakes by becoming a hero against the Dark Force Anima, who seeks to consume the entire universe to feed his insatiable appetite.

Zeon has often been seen working with heroes of all sorts in his fight against Anima, usually disguised as a priest. He also constantly searches for his long lost friend, Amuil, confused by why he disappeared so suddenly. Some believe he is the only person alive who knows the truth of Amuil's fate, other than Ohm. However, only time will tell. To Zeon, an immortal vampire, he has all the time in the world...
