

Hee hoo lore man, anyway this is reva's summary it's probably linked at the end of dino's thread

- the stream starts with the clip of Wilbur apologising to Jack
- after Wilbur leaves the hotel, the screen goes black for a bit
- when it comes back, jack is standing in the hotel doorway (takes place right after?)
- jack believes that Wilbur meant his apology (were not sure if wil is being manipulative or not)
- jack didn't believe Wilbur was back at first
- he wasn't sure what Wilbur would say, but he figured he'd apologise for 'what he did'
- he was expecting Wilbur to apologise for Imanberg, not what'd happened to Jack personally
- there's been too many battles for Jack to remember which is which
- jack was preparing himself in his head to forgive Wilbur for L'Manberg
- manifoldland no longer holds any significance to him
- he's not sure how to feel about what Wilbur said
- "no one ever apologised to me before for Yknow, leaving me behind"
- tubbo had never apologised to him, he was just consistently there
- he wasn't expecting an apology for the abandonment
- he's not sure if he's prepared to forgive, he hasn't thought about it
- Wilbur was a friend, and jack missed him
- "we've had 'friends' revived, they don't come back and redeem themselves"
- he believes that wil cares
- he thinks he has the opportunity to get his friend back, and that's all he ever wanted
- "what do I do man"

- the apology made him feel understood, and that's fulfilling
- “why can't tommy just do the same”
- tommy and wilbur treated him the same
- they were both his friends who let him into L'Manberg, and then they both turned around and killed him for no reason. But then Wilbur comes back and is willing to admit he fucked up, but tommy just wants to kill dream and ‘start shit’
- “even when I told him he'd done things to me he just said no”
- no one is online :(
- he always thinks the friendship flower is for him when he passes by
- he doesn't know what to do
- he does know that he wants to build a pub though
- “drink time”
- to prove he's Jack's friend, Jack wants Wilbur to get a pint with him
- he's willing to forgive him if that happens
- “now that i have a new friend”
- he's working on pub
- he starts talking about kinds of beer lol
- he wants to make a brewery
- “why does every bit of turmoil between me and my friends end in gathering clay”
- he's still looking for clay

- chat got put in money mode for spamming dnf. Stop spamming dnf.
- jack found some sort of redstone contraption
- “nope. Not a chance.”
- he’s confused about the Wilbur thing but he “fancies a pint, yea”
- jack breaks rp to talk about meeting dream lol
- he doesn’t know how to react to being apologised to, because it’s all he ever wanted
- his world has been flipped upside down, because he wasn’t expecting people to feel bad
- he thinks he should always be in the right, but he doesn’t feel like it right now
- ended up in gogtopia somehow
- he never believed he was morally ambiguous, just said it from an outside perspective
- he tried to give Tommy a chance before, with visiting him in exile, but we all know how that went
- jack canonically has a phone
- jack doesn’t wanna find sams cameras anymore because it’s ‘not interesting’
- jack canonically drank before stream bc he was confused
- “people are making me feel.... thankful. i’m feeling thankful for the people that hurt me, which is a bit weird”
- Tommy is barred from the pub because he hasn’t apologised
- needs money for tommy killing tommy
- “canonically you are making a pub for a smelly man in his 40s” “yes”
- he believes tommy is just a shell
- jack wonders where Wilbur learnt he wronged him, since he didn’t remember it in life, and jack never rly spoke to ghostbur
- jack finds a grave for schlatt and laughs about the picture on it
- he wonders if Wilbur was always aware he was doing wrong
- he wonders if being dead was what made Wilbur reflect on his actions, and he wasn’t aware of what he’d done at the time
- “maybe Wilbur’s not a bad guy”
- jack personally has no issue with Wilbur
- “[wilbur] sounds pretty poggers to me”
- “maybe we really are getting my friends back”
- this isn’t lore relevant but jack hits a sick water clutch
- the two pillars of jack manifold are pub building and self reflection
- pubb building and self reflection
