

SL:My principal suspended me
PV: And helped me

HEY%FIRSTNAME%

What if I told you that a 3 minutes conversation changed my life

Life often puts us on split paths

And I have faced such a moment once

2021, I was selling candy and snacks

See the job was quite easy but it got me suspended in the first week of starting it

It's not because I was selling during teaching times.

I got suspended because I was good at the job

Soon my principal knew I was selling candy and snacks.

The principal asked me "do you like what you doing"

(Yes)

Than he replied saying

" I'm gonna do you a favor by suspending you for two weeks, I know you can do better trust me"

This conversation triggered a spark in my mind.

The principal did this because he understood a very important concept

At home with my free time I had decided to learn the skill of copywriting.

At first it was not nice, I even thought about quitting because it was full of struggles with zero clients, but I remembered the words of the principal.

The hard work soon paid off

Now I can work from anywhere in the world

Persuade your passion, set your sights high and push for more

Sign of story email