Birth place : Osaka,Japan

Minako Ātisuto born in Osaka Japan is a student at new Honnōji academy and the President of the cooking club. She is a three star ranked student however she and her mother lives in a one star area of the city since they never cared for being super wealthy. She has a strong passion for the culinary arts and food which she adopted from her father who is a professional chef. During the events of the battle between Honnōji Academy and Ragyō Kiryūin she nearly lost both her parents to the life fibers, spawning a hatred for them.

She joined the academy after an incident in her home of Osaka as life fiber infused humans collecting humans to be new hosts or to be fed on by growing life fibers. She and her mother were shopping for ingredients so she could make dinner till they came across the chaos they were causing before being spotted by one that gave chase to both of them. When they were cornered her mother and her were about to be captured by it til it was grabbed and tossed to the side by Ira Gamagōri. "Get out of here now I am Ira Gamagōri and I'm here to stop those creatures now go!!" He roared with authority before he started doing battle with the mutated human.

After Ira fought and disposed of them Minako recognized the life fibers from that day when humans were getting cocooned. When Satsuki arrived at the scene and Ira reported to her, Minako walked over demanding to know what's going on. "Know your place and don't raise your voice to Lady Satsuki!!" He glared down at her. " That's quite alright, I'd say she has a right to know.." Satsuki said in her calm demeanor before explaining what the life fibers are. "So these things want to be used as a food source?!" She asked with a shocked expression. "Indeed we plan to find and eliminate every last source of Life fibers.." Satsuki replied. "...I want to fight them too can I join this academy you mentioned?" Minako asked Satsuki with a determined look. "...I don't see a reason why not but in my academy strength is necessary if you can't meet expectations you won't be able to continue to attend".

" I understand I'll try my hardest and then some." Minako said, giving Satsuki a serious look, making her smirk a little. " Very well you'll be fully registered by next week and a place to stay in new Honnō city your parents can accompany you if they wish." Satsuki said before they headed off back to Honnōji academy.

"Minako, are you sure you want to do this..?" Her mother asked with a worried look. " I'm positive mom I almost lost you and dad to them twice now I don't want that happening to anyone.." she said looking over. " sighs let's see what your father thinks first.." she said to Minako later on they explained what happened to them that morning. " wow that's quite the eventful day I'm glad you two are okay...Minako if everything you told me is true this seems very dangerous.." her father said as they were all in their living room. " I know dad but I feel like it's something I have to do..that day i was terrified that I was gonna lose you two to those things and the fact they're still out there.." Minako said, looking down at the floor. "...If you think you have to do this then we'll support you all the way now we got a week right ? So let's start packing, " he said smiling at her. " * sighs * once her mind is made up it's not gonna change anyway.." her mother said, smiling as Minako hugged them both before she went up to pack her things to move to New Honnō city.
