

Hey Sheez,

I've been following your account for a while, and I must say that your way of selling your products, which is by posting fashionable content related to the fashion sense of your products, is on point.

Let me ask you, low attraction on social media can be a bit challenging, right? One solution could be to create more engaging posts that engagingly showcase your unique products.

And if it's something you will be interested in let me know as soon as possible by sending me a Dm.