

(I don't smoke weed anymore since I've rejoined this campus, but I do know a lot about it and that's why today I'm outreaching in this niche.)

Please let me know how I can improve, and what you guys think of this.

Hey, Andrew!

Don't skip yet! :) This could be a goldmine for you!

As a long-time cannabis enthusiast & lover, I know where to find good products. And I'd like to thank you & (company) for putting out some amazing products consistently for mine & others use.

Tapping into human psychology may not seem as important as you may think, but it can really take your engagement game from zero-hero real quick.

Leading HHC, THC-A, D8 websites all use a "secret" psychology trick that takes their lowest-paying customers into highly invested superfans.

You may already know this, but something as small as one mistake could turn a lead into somebody else's customer.

That's why I created 3 tailored product descriptions for your website to prove this psychological goldmine and pass them onto you.

Hopefully this can provide you with the same amount of value you have provided me with over the years.

Do you want it? Reply with "Goldmine" and I'll send them over.

Otherwise, we could hop on a call sometime this week and we can discuss this further.

Kindest Regards, Jason

P.S. These tailored product descriptions made specially for you are free. I'm not asking anything in return.