(Below are my notes from my course with Tania Magdalene)

First Order: The Seraphim.

These are the highest order of angels, 'the fire makers'. They stand the closest to God/source. They are the caretakers of God's throne. They pass on illumination to the angels below them. They have been witnessed in various forms. They are associated with the fire bringing divine love. Fire makers or carriers of passion, the love that burns in the Seraphim is so bright that not even the Cherubim can look at them directly, but we enjoy their warmth. They emit a flame so bright, it lights up the whole world, they are the warm bright flame of love for creation.

Second Order: Cherubim, Cherubs

Full of knowledge and the ones who intercede. They are fierce by comparison to the cute baby cherub images we see today. They were fearsome, guards of the temples. They guard God's knowledge. Two sit on top of the Ark of the Covenant (which contains the 10 commandments). They are one of nine choirs of angels that watch over God's truth. They have special insight over God's secrets, so when we have a choice and follow our hearts, we are feeling the wisdom of the Cherubim. Cherubim are our best guides for true wisdom, justice or true love.

Third Order: Thrones

Thrones are a class of celestial beings mentioned by Paul the Apostle, Colossians 1:16. They are at Christ's service. They are carriers of the Throne of God. Thrones are creatures that function as the actual chariots of God driven by the Cherubs. They are peaceful and submissive. Forever in God's presence, they chant Glorias to God. They mete out divine justice and maintain cosmic harmony on all levels.

They have wonderful minds. They contemplate divine will, understand the knowledge and how to apply it, they acquire great wisdom this way.

They are third ranking in the hierarchy. They meet directly with God about his plans and how the lower order Angels can assist. These other angels range from Dominions below the Thrones to the human's Guardian Angels.

Sometimes Thrones interact with humans as messengers. They help people gain a universal perspective about their choices. They want justice to prevail. They help right wrongs. They help to enforce that the cosmos works in universal harmony. They are filled with brilliant light, that reflects the universal wisdom that enlightens them. Characterized by light that shines brightly from within them. Like the Seraphim and Cherubim the light is as bright as fire.

Fourth Order: Dominions

They help keep the world in order. They deliver justice, showing mercy to humans and helping angels in lower ranks do their job well. They do what's right in a situation according to the higher purpose. They are channels of mercy for love to flow to people. They represent unconditional love and have a passion for justice. They balance love and truth. Love without truth isn't love because it settles for less. Truth without love isn't truth because we are here for unconditional love. They answer the prayers of world leaders. Archangel Zadkiel, the Angel of mercy, is a leading Dominions Angel. Him and his angels in the purple light ray send people insights from their mistakes to help them learn from them. They help people show others mercy. Dominions regulate the angels below them in rank. They are in constant communication. They help keep the natural order of the universe, by enforcing the universal laws of nature.

Fifth Order: Virtues

These are a choir of angels in Christianity known to help people strengthen their faith. They perform miracles to deepen our faith. They inspire people to grow spiritually. They send positive thoughts of peace and hope into people's minds. When people are awake they may perceive encouraging messages during stress. When asleep they receive encouragement from the Virtue Angels in dreams. Historically, they encourage those who would become Saints after death. They emanate the energy of divine grace by delivering gifts of miracles. They deliver miracles according to divine will. They represent the power to overcome evil with good, and miracles are always possible in all situations. They showed up and spoke to the people as Christ ascended. They help people develop strong faith. Archangel Uriel is a leading Virtue angel. Archangel Uriel serves as a stabilizing force in people's lives, giving them down to earth wisdom with daily decisions.

Sixth Order: Powers or Authorities

The 'Powers' supervise the movements of the heavenly bodies to ensure order. They are warrior angels. They oppose evil spirits, and they cast evil spirits to detention places. These are soldiers in full armor, helmet, shields, spears, chains. They are the keepers of history. These warriors were created to be completely loyal to God. Some say none have fallen from grace, another theory says that Lucifer was the Chief of the Powers before he fell. They oversee the distribution of power among humankind. Hence their name.

Seventh Order: Principalities

A choir of angels who remind us to look for wisdom and encourage and guide those of us who are facing challenges. When world leaders need help making decisions, these Angels help. They supervise all nations on earth. They encourage a regular spiritual practice. Helping us maintain good spiritual habits is the way to wisdom. If there is great stress and worry, Principality angels will enter the mind to try to help with suggestions. People encountering challenges often hear from them when they ask for help. They give people joy to transcend situations and motivate people and send us ideas to solve problems. Archangel Haniel, the Angel of joy, is a leading Principality Angel who directs others to respond to requests for encouragement. They refresh our perspectives when we get discouraged. Archangel Chamuel is another Principality Angel, and was present in the garden of Gethsemane as Jesus ascended from his Adam body to the Christed body of light. They are also known for their work overseeing governments: nations, states, provinces, counties, cities, towns, villages, etc. They deliver universal wisdom to leaders of these to govern well. The angels help leaders learn grace as they govern, and balance truth and love. The angels inspire people working in the arts and sciences with new ideas. They love to help inspire people in their work. Like helping someone compose music, or with scientific breakthroughs, they deliver brilliant ideas. They usually work in partnership with people's Guardian Angels to deliver fresh ideas. They are depicted wearing a crown and scepter. They carry out the orders of the upper level angels and also give blessings to the material world. They oversee groups of people. They are educators and guardians of the realm of earth. They inspire living things.

Eighth Order: Archangels

Archangels are the highest ranking Angels in heaven. They have the most important responsibilities. They go back and forth from Heaven to Earth to help us. They each have specialties. From healing to wisdom. They work in corresponding light ray frequencies. In Greek: "Arche" means "ruler", and "angelos" means "messenger". They have dual duties. Ruling over other angels while delivering messages to humans.

Ninth Order: Guardian Angels

Guardian angels are assigned to each person. While Archangels are sent to accomplish earthly tasks of a larger scale. For example, Archangel Gabriel is known to deliver important messages throughout history, as in the Annunciation. Guardian Angels are here to assist each of us here on Earth and call in the higher Order of Angels to help us when needed. They have guarded our souls throughout our Mother's pregnancy. At our birth they stepped in to guide us from the spirit realm into the 3D world. Which for some can be frightening, but our guardian angels are here to gently support us. Time doesn't exist so they can be everywhere at once, connected energetically throughout our lives, waiting patiently by our side, whispering in our ear to guide us, leaving little signs to show they are here, folding you in their wings when you cry. They never leave us and we're never alone. They will also guide us back to the light when we pass, they will be there to walk us back home and we'll recognize them instantly. They don't have physical form but they can appear to us in a form we would recognize. They are pure white loving energy with the purest of hearts, vibrating deep, deep unconditional love.
