

LITERACY LINKS

Click on the pictures to be directed to the websites.

Award winning books read by popular actors. Select books by title, author or reader.

The State of Pennsylvania has recently made Scholastic Bookflix, an interactive, online literacy resource that pairs nonfiction eBooks with classic video storybooks, free to all Districts through the Power Library program to which our local libraries subscribe. You can now access BookFlix by simply logging into the site with a Chester County Library Card number. Students may access the site by using their own library card number or the District's number provided in the directions below. Families who do not have a card may acquire one free at any Chester County library.

This site has a plethora of online books. They also promote giving by allowing members to buy and donate books to help schools, libraries and children access literacy resources they wouldn't otherwise have the ability to use.

30 day free trial

An extensive collection of animated and picture books - the books are enhanced with music, animations, music and narration to bring the stories to life. The collection includes National Geographic games and videos as well.

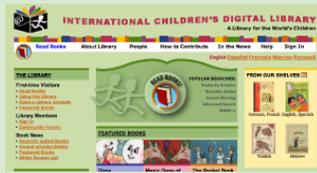

STARFALL

This website provides engaging reading practice for young learners. Not all of the content can be accessed without a premium account.

Online Storytime from Barnes and Noble Similar to Storyline Online, this is a great resource for read alouds.

International Children's Digital Library
Students can read stories from around the world on this site.

ABCYA

Children can listen to stories or read along with highlighted text. This site also has a variety of educational games and free resources.

This is a great resource for selecting books on a student's appropriate reading and/or interest level, grade level equivalency as well as subject area link.

Educational resources for games,
resources and reinforcement activities organized by State Standards.