

Character list:

Captain Rhydian T'kel

-($\frac{1}{4}$ Vulcan, $\frac{3}{4}$ Human) Age late 20s early 30s.

-A starfleet 'posterboy'. Intellectual by nature but favours boldness and action, has a penchant for mood swings and over-excitement due to his Vulcan heritage.

He has received various accolades and awards for outstanding service, leading to a promotion to the rank of Captain shortly after the end of the Dominion War. He has been made captain of the Galaxy-class USS Beyond and charged with a 5-year mission of exploration.

First Officer Damek Makar

-(Cardassian Gul) mid-late 30s.)

-A Cardassian Gul who, in the 'spirit of comradery' between a tentative reformed Cardassian Union and the Federation, has been assigned to serve as First Officer to Captain T'kel. Very much sees this as a demotion and punishment for his outspoken political ideals.

Chief of Security Luna Howell

-(Human female. Mid-30s)

-Level-headed and firm, takes her job quite seriously. Practical and prefers to keep opinions to herself. Her advice is usually sound and straightforward. Doesn't think very far ahead in terms of consequences. She and T'kel are good friends from the Academy and have served on many missions together.

Chief of Medicine S'enir

-(Kobali sexless)

-An optimistic individual who values life, cultural exchange and kindness. Approachable and helpful, sometimes overly passionate to the point of blindness. Can occasionally become childish if agitated. Mild-mannered.

Chief of Science Leda Nix

-(Joined Female Trill. 9th life of symbiont, early twenties host)

-Prideful in her work and can become agitated when questioned. Believes in a strong set of principals and has a fierce passion for scientific discovery. Has been called cold in her attitude towards others. *Add notes for previous lives.

Chief of Engineering Ena Ajano

-(Bajoran female, late 50s early 60s)

-Has a sunny disposition and a strong sense of humour. She fought in the war for the liberation of her people from Cardassian rule all her life. She did not undergo any formal training as an engineer but instead learned out of necessity, performing incredible feats of engineering with severe limitations and almost no resources. She enjoys the thrill of a no-win situation- something that drove her most of her life.

Ship's Head Counsellor: Attiel

-(El Aurian Male, non-descript age, centuries old.)

-Like most El Aurians Attiel is a natural listener. He is quite calm and personable as well as patient. He occasionally brings insight into a situation and offers advice on his perception of various phenomena. He rarely offers insight into his own past although he seems to know a great deal about a great many races.
