

DIORAMA: Bathing the Buddha

"One Drop, Countless Lights"

Symbolic Meaning

Every drop of water you pour over the statue of baby Prince Siddhartha represents a small act of kindness that can spread everywhere.

This tradition is inspired by the story of the Buddha's birth, which was welcomed with water as a symbol of purity. This ritual invites us to cleanse the heart and begin again with better intentions.

Message of Wisdom

Our lives are guided by inner intention. It is not about how great our actions are, but how sincere the intention behind them is. Even a simple good intention can become the beginning of great change.

Interbeing — Connected to One Another

Like light that spreads, kindness never stands alone. Every intention and action is interconnected, and our happiness grows together with the happiness of others.

Invitation for Today

◆ Begin with one good intention today, no matter how small, and let it spread farther than you imagine.
