Feet loves a website where you can play in a virtual world and chat with other players. Lately, Feet has been playing in a new area. Feet started receiving some mean messages from the other players.

1. How would you feel if you were Feet reading those messages? I would feel ...

I would feel badly. It would make me sad and like I wasn't welcome to play the game anymore.

2. Why do you think people send these kinds of messages to people they don't know? People send these kinds of messages because ...

People send these kinds of messages because they're trying to make a joke or because they feel badly themselves and want to take it out on others.

3. What advice would you give Feet to respond to this situation? Remember S-T-O-P.

- Feet could stop playing the game.
 - Feet could tell a parent or another trusted adult.
 - Feet could report the other players to the game.
