

Privacy Policy

This app does not collect, store, or share any personally identifiable information.

All habit data entered by the user is stored locally on the device and is not transmitted to external servers.

The app does not require account creation and does not share data with third parties.

If notifications are enabled, they are used only to remind users about their habits and are processed locally on the device.

No analytics, tracking, or advertising services are used.

If you have any questions about this privacy policy, you can contact us at:
sa.farshidfar@gmail.com