Linear Recurrence

An enigmatic figure with a penchant for maths puns, Sho is one of the few veterans playing the Reapers' Game. Allying over a mutual interest in survival, Minato believes their partnership to be reluctant but secure—but are this rogue value's plans linear, or exponentially more grand than he lets on?

RANK 1 - "Previously, I had spotted this stranger in Shibuya, but he managed to escape. This time, though, I caught up with him in Cat Street, and...man, I did not understand a word he said. On the bright side, he seems to have an interest in my Persona—and a knowledge on how the Reaper's Game works. He could be a valuable ally...if I can only find him again."

RANK 10 -MAXI!- - "After losing the Reapers' Game, Sho parted ways with the mortal coil and myself. He entrusted three Psyche Pins to me, and urged me to solve this equation in his stead—and I'm not going to let him down. In his memory. I'm going to stop these Reapers. "

SOLVE FOR THE SOUL - Jack Frost has evolved into Mina-hee-mot-ho!

v - the hierophant

upright - family, tradition and the past, conformity, wise counsel, commitment, belief, traditional institutions reversed - breaking tradition, challenged beliefs, role reversal, unconventional relations and lifestyles, letting go of the past

The Paternal King

A mysterious and sagelike warrior who claims to be far older than he appears, carefully watching all with eyes both stern and warm. He occasionally comes off as almost parental, though is more often than not quiet and contemplative. With the beginning of the Reapers' Game, he cautiously seeks to uncover the motivations of those controlling it.

RANK 1 - "I found Audric out of the crowd when we first arrived. He claims to be older than he looks—whether you believe that or not, there's no denying he's got wisdom and experience. Hesitant about mentoring, I've recruited him to my team to help coach Minako. I offered to watch his back to repay him—But I can't shake the feeling there's something more...Personal, I could help with."

The Reapers

The enigmatic figures in charge of the Reapers' Game. They use their otherworldly powers to orchestrate missions the participants must take part in. If they succeed, then they'll be granted a second chance at life—and if they fail, the Reapers will erase them.

CURRENT RANK: 1

RANK 1 - "That strange figure gave me this badge and sent me on my way. The Reapers' Game: "Win, and you'll get a second chance at life. Lose? And you'll be erased. Lost forever." Whatever the hell's going on, I don't like it. Just who are these Reapers?"
