

TO USE THIS FILE, MAKE A COPY TO YOUR GOOGLE DRIVE AND EDIT AS APPROPRIATE. BE SURE TO DELETE THIS HEADER WHEN FINISHED.

Contact:

Your Name

your email address | your phone number

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Date you're sending this out

YOUR HEADLINE

TO HOST BARDS AGAINST HUNGER FOOD DRIVE

Poetry Reading and Open Mic to Benefit...

[YOUR TOWN], CONNECTICUT, USA - Present the who, what, when, where, and why of your event

“Offer a quote by someone associated with the food bank, or the organization you're working with”

[ADJUST BELOW AS NECESSARY]

Among the items needed, are many of the most popular, including whole grain cereals, sugar free jam or jelly, instant oatmeal packets, canned tuna, spam, chicken, and other meats, canned vegetables, including low sodium and all kinds of beans, flavored rice and pasta packets, ramen noodles, juice boxes and bottles.

Talk about the featured poets and/or theme for your reading

"Provide a quote from one of the event's featured speakers, a co-hosting organization, or yourself."

About Bards Against Hunger Connecticut

In 2024, Orenaug Mountain Publishing (OMP) started Bards Against Hunger Connecticut, an initiative that helps stock local food pantries, as a way for writers in the area to give back to their communities. OMP, based in Southbury, hosts quarterly events at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Woodbury for the benefit of the church's Little Free Pantry. Since OMP's first event, other Bards Against Hunger Connecticut events have been hosted by local poets laureates around the state have held poetry open mics in Bethel, Danbury, and Willimantic.