

UPDATE: SPSP extended the submission deadline to October 25, 11:59pm PST

Advances in Cultural Psychology SPSP Pre-Conference

Join us at the in-person Advances in Cultural Psychology Pre-Conference at the next Society for Personality and Social Psychology annual conference on Thurs., Feb. 7, 2024, in San Diego.

2024 Theme: Threats! Danger! Death!

Does cultural psychology have a replication crisis? Why do some hazards kill people in some cultures and make people healthier in other cultures? How is it that threats lead to honor violence in some cultures and inflated narcissism in others? Join us for the dangerous side of cultural psychology and two lightning rounds of data blitz talks.

Share your research! Apply now to share your research as a poster or in a 5-minute data blitz talk. Graduate students, postdocs, and assistant or associate professors (without tenure) are welcome to apply. Note that all presenters are expected to attend the conference in person.

Submissions for the data blitz and poster session are now open through October 25, 2023, 11:59 pm Pacific Time, through the SPSP submission portal.

No single-presenter talks: Although the SPSP website gives an option for single presenter talks, our pre-conference will NOT feature any of these. So please don't select this option.

Award for Outstanding Contribution to Cultural Psychology

We are also collecting nominations for the Award for Outstanding Contribution to Cultural Psychology. This award recognizes a scholar (or group of scholars) whose work has added substantially to the body of knowledge in cultural psychology and whose sustained contributions in research, teaching, and/or service have significantly advanced the field.

Nomination materials must include:

1. A letter of recommendation detailing how the nominee's (or nominees') work fits the award criteria
2. The nominee's (or nominees') current CV.

Send materials in one email to SPSPCulturalPsych@gmail.com by December 1, 2023. Awardees will be expected to give an award talk at the pre-conference.

Pre-conference co-chairs:

Tiffany Brannon, tbrannon@psych.ucla.edu, University of California Los Angeles

Matt Gobel, m.g.gobel@sussex.ac.uk, University of Sussex

Thomas Talhelm, Thomas.Talhelm@Chicagobooth.edu, University of Chicago
