24th - Jan 2nd Holiday Break

Dear Families,

Here we are in December — the school year is already more than one-third complete! Shortly after we return from the holiday break, we'll be celebrating the 100th day of school!

As 2025 comes to a close, I want to express my deepest gratitude to our incredible PRCS staff and families. The level of teamwork, care, and commitment in this community is something truly special. From volunteering to cheering on student successes, your partnership makes all the difference.

As I reflect on this year, I'm reminded daily that the heart of PRCS is our people — students who inspire, staff who uplift, and families who support and encourage us every step of the way.

May your holidays be filled with rest, laughter, and connection. Thank you for being part of the PRCS family.

With gratitude,

Beth Drolet

PS. See reverse for some holiday suggestions.

Message from Ms. Bolitho the PRCS Librarian…….

Please remember to help your student to remember to return their library books in a timely fashion so that they are available for other students to check out.
Thank you,
Ms. B

IT IS COLD & FLU SEASON

Remember to wash your hands with soap & water!

From Nurse Betsy's office at PRCS!

Holiday decorations are appearing everywhere as families begin thinking about shopping lists, travel plans, and festive meals. While visions of sugarplums and snowflakes might fill our heads, our PRCS Tigers continue to have math facts, essays, favorite books, and science experiments dancing through theirs!

Please help us encourage our students to stay focused through December 19th, keeping learning and routine part of your family's rhythm this month.

If you're searching for meaningful (and low-cost) gift ideas, consider giving your family the gift of time:

- Enjoy a nature walk or visit a local park
- Spend an afternoon at the library
- Have a family board game night
- Bake cookies or decorate together
- Read a favorite book side by side

These simple moments create lasting memories and remind children that the best gifts don't come wrapped — they come from time spent together.

Please also remember to encourage your child to read, write, and practice math facts over the break! Reading and writing about topics they enjoy, or sharing what they've learned with family members, keeps skills strong and minds active.

As we wrap up 2025, students are reflecting on their progress and setting goals for the new year — whether it's mastering multiplication facts, building reading stamina, or showing perseverance when something feels challenging.

You can support this reflection at home by asking questions like:

- "What's something you're proud of learning this fall?"
- "What's one goal you want to work toward in January?"

From the ART ROOM:
As the autumn air continues to swirl the falling colorful leaves, our Artists have been busy making Art with an emphasis on using these leaves and showing space. Whether it is a watercolor resist or using chalk pastels to make vibrant leaf creations in the hallways, students have celebrated the season. Find the Wild Things texture drawings and Van Gogh sunflowers on display. A few new projects are focused on space and optical perspective. Be on the lookout for 5th-grade printmaking with a nature theme as well as Albrecht Durer-inspired initial prints.
Thank you!
