

Netflix Secret Codes does not collect, store, or sell any personal data.

What we access: The extension only activates on Netflix.com to display the side panel. It does not read, scan, or transmit any information about what you watch, your Netflix account, or your browsing activity.

Local storage: Your saved favorite categories and recently visited categories are stored locally in your browser using Chrome's storage API. This data never leaves your device and is never sent anywhere.

We do not collect: your Netflix account information, watch history, browsing history, IP address, location, or any other personal information.

Third parties: We do not share, sell, or transfer any data to third parties under any circumstances.

Changes: If this policy changes, the updated version will be posted here.
