Thinking about purchasing your very first vibrator can be exciting but also intimidating. Do you go in to a shop, do you order online, do you get it delivered to your home, and what if somebody finds out! And even when you get passed all these hurdles, how do you possibly know which are the best sex toys for women?

When it comes to girls and toys it is normal to feel apprehensive about all these points. But if you're feeling too timid to take the plunge with a female masturbation vibrator, then think again. Every woman with a sex toy has had to overcome these feelings and more often than not, end up becoming quite the collector!

Firstly, think about how you are going to get one. Ordering online is usually a very reliable process and it's easy to know what the top selling sex toys are from other user's reviews. But if you don't feel comfortable having it sent to your home address, you can always have it delivered to a friend's home or collect it from the post office.

If you don't have the ability to order online, then there is no shame in walking in to a sex shop. There are many stores which now specifically gear their stores to the lucrative female market, so if you're not ready for endless rows of black leather, chains and impossibly sized dildo's, then immerse yourself in a shop that is specifically for women with happy pink rows endlessly filled with beautifully coloured female sex toys.

Now when it comes to actually considering which toy is for just remember this. Basically the best sex toys for women are simply the ones that get you off. So when deciding which one may be for you, consider exactly how you like your sex and then find a sex toy or female masturbation vibrator to match.

If you're not exactly sure what you're looking for then consider this. Sexually active women can usually be divided in to three groups:

Women who prefer cunnilingus; Women who prefer penetration; And women who love both. So with this in mind, think about what type of sex you prefer when choosing your female masturbation vibrator.

However, if you are not very sexually experienced and are unsure which category you may come under, try not to get too overwhelmed with all the different colours, sizes and buzzing devices. Some may confuse, fascinate or even freak you out, and something that may totally scare you to begin with might actually become your most favourite thrilling toy.

When making your decision, a good place to start is by looking at the top selling sex toys. You can either do this online by reading reviews or by asking the shop attendant. The best toys for women do not have to be the most expensive and there are many varieties of affordable sex toys. If you don't want to spend a lot of money but don't want to be disappointed if you buy something cheap, a good place to start is with a mid priced toy with a history of being one of the best vibrators for female orgasm.

Like any purchase that is important to you, be sure to do your research beforehand and perhaps start out firstly with affordable toys and something that is less intense before upgrading to a more powerful female masturbation vibrator.

Whatever your choice, rest assured girls and sex toys were made for each other, and even if you really don't know which one is going to bring you the most pleasure, making your first purchase of any kind is a step toward a whole new world of self pleasure, sexual independence and incredible satisfaction.
