

Turkey, 95 dead and counting

I do not know what kind of sawdust may be a radical head to get in the middle of a peaceful demonstration, blow themselves up and kill 95 people; also leaving a postscript badly injured 258 others. This past Saturday in Ankara has staged the unmitigated hell of Dante. Two horrific explosions have left deaf, dumb, dead or battered all those Turks who called for an end of violence between Kurdish rebels and Turkish security forces. What who did? When this happens often more credible than the official unofficial version. The Prime Minister of Turkey, Ahmet Davutoglu, said as guilty of the attack everyone but Santa Claus: the jihadists of the Islamic State (EI), Al-Qaeda, the Kurdish rebels, etc. While many of course -the citizens are blaming the same AKP, the ruling party. Something will have water when they bless and government have that when something nobody wants. I do not know if it will have to do, but since US and Russia attempt to gain control of Turkey in this country only misfortunes occur.
