

Tools to Fact Check Your Sources

“...monitor[s] the factual accuracy of what is said by major U.S. political players in the form of TV ads, debates, speeches, interviews and news releases”.

<http://www.factcheck.org/>

<http://www.factcheck.org/scicheck/>

Examines the accuracy of scientific claims

---

“PolitiFact is a fact-checking website that rates the accuracy of claims by elected officials and others who speak up in American politics”.

<http://www.politifact.com/> and

---

“..the oldest and largest fact-checking site on the Internet...what has come to be regarded as an online touchstone of rumor research”.

<http://www.snopes.com/>

---

“premier research group tracking money in U.S. politics and its effect on elections and public policy”.

<http://www.opensecrets.org/>

---

An internet time machine that allows you to go back and see changes in a website and find websites that have been taken down from the internet.

<https://archive.org/about/>