How would you like to buy one beach read for 99 cents and get 10 beach reads as a free gift? If you're like many people, you'd love to load up your e-reader with beach reads for summer vacation, but don't have time to spend browsing retail sites clicking on book covers. Every day on Twitter, book lovers tweet pleas such as "Help! I need reading suggestions!" That's the focus of #BeachReadSOS – to help book lovers load their e-readers with quality books so they won't need to call SOS. SOS also refers to Sink or Swim, the fictional TV game show featured in Stacy Juba's mystery novel of the same title. The show takes place on a Tall Ship and contestants must walk the plank, including her heroine Cassidy.. After she returns to her normal life as a personal trainer, Cassidy needs to call SOS for real when a killer follows her every move.

Anyone who buys Sink or Swim before June 1, 2013 (it's on sale for 99 cents for a limited time at many retailers) can contact Stacy for 10 free books through her BeachReadSOS promotion. The free books represent a wide range of popular genres including romantic comedy, mystery, suspense, thriller, contemporary romance, and fantasy, and are only available for free through this promotion.

Stacy is also highlighting bargain beach reads from the 10 donating authors, so visit her blog for the list of free gifts as well as some fantastic, inexpensive books to keep you entertained this summer and beyond. She will be posting individual spotlights for bargain beach reads throughout May.
