1 Overall Objective of the Session

Describe the topic of the special session and explain how the session will be organized (e.g., as a committee report, hands-on exercise, ...). Indicate why the proposed session is important and relevant to the SIGCSE community.

2 Outline of the Session

Organize this section by subtopics, activities, or a similar scheme. If more than one participant is involved, label each section of the outline with the name of the participant(s) who will be presenting that section. Note that in the case of a committee report, the presenters might be a subset of the authors. We suggest that you allow at least 40 - 50% of the time for questions and answers or other interaction with the attendees.

All special sessions at SIGCSE TS 2023 will be available for hybrid presentation modality. A hybrid session is a live event where in-person and online attendees can interact. Presenters and attendees in hybrid sessions may be either in-person in Toronto or online. Special Session proposals need not explicitly designate online and in-person presenters, but conference organizers will need this information shortly after notification of acceptance.

3 Expectations

State the intended audience. Indicate how much the session will cover and what the audience should learn. If feedback from the audience is desired, indicate how it will be elicited.

4 Suitability for a Special Session

Include a brief description that justifies the inclusion of this presentation as a special session. Explain why the proposed presentation is better suited for a special session than a paper or panel or other standard track format.
