Welcome To G&G 40K Escalation League!

This is not a competitive escalation league. The league is designed to help new players learn how to play Warhammer 40,000 and for experienced players to learn about new armies. Our goal is to grow a healthy community of 40K players, so good sportsmanship will be enforced. We encourage players to help teach others and to avoid building armies that will immediately overpower their opponents. We have tried to cover all the rules, but there may be something missed and a judgment call will need to be made during the Escalation League.
