

SL: Small changes = Big Differences

Hey Cristian,

I recently checked out your course and I must say you and your team did a good job on building the course.

Unfortunately, Some of the videos on your page can't be accessed and there are minor spelling errors here and there. This could have a negative influence on your business and cause customers to reconsider buying the course.

A few changes to your landing page can make a big difference to your business. With the use of persuasive writing, customers can be more compelled to buy the course, and by fixing the accessibility of the videos on the landing page customers will trust that the course is legitimate.

I'd like to help fix these minor mistakes and better your landing page with persuasive copywriting. These few issues could be what's stopping your business from reaching its true potential and the only way we can find out is by solving them.

If interested, Reply "yes" so your team and I can get this sorted as soon as possible.
