

Old SL: The 2 choices you have when it comes to extensive sweating.

New SL: Don't think twice about your body odor ever again.

"To sweat or not to sweat" was a famous line from Shakespeare's play "Hamlet".

Or was it "To be or not to be"

Does it sound familiar to you?

Do you find yourself in Hamlet's shoes, when it comes to sweating?

The dilemma is very similar- you have 2 choices:

To shamefully walk around with your arms glued to your armpits.

Or to reach the top shelf in the store, without stressing about showing the sweat stains on your shirt.

To look like a weirdo standing far from people, embarrassed of your smell.

Or to have a scent that has women lingering around you just to smell it.

Or to shine with confidence and certainty in your look.

It all comes down to a simple choice:

#1 Will you sit with your arms folded and your armpits drenched?

#2 Or will you take action to stop sweating and finally be comfortable in your skin?
