- Background/Personality:

Amazo is designed to resemble a tall, muscular barechested human man. However, the resemblance is not perfect; for example, it has pointed ears, and lacks eyebrows or nipples. Its face is stern, with chiseled cheeks, a square jaw, and a narrow, aquiline nose.

Most of Amazo's outer surface is formed from untextured metallic segments with visible joints and edges. The segments resembling exposed skin (its face, arms, neck and chest) are pale gray; the crown of its head is orange to imitate close-cropped hair; segments resembling clothing (its legs and bands around its wrists) are colored dark green. Its eyes are red, and sometimes glow.

Amazo has the ability to study and mimic the abilities (though not the weaknesses) of his enemies.

During his battle against the Justice League, he replicated the powers of several heroes:

- Black Canary's Canary Cry and fighting skills
- Captain Atom's energy blasts
- Flash's speed
- Martian Manhunter's density shifting and shape-shifting
- Red Tornado's wind manipulation
- Superman's heat vision, invulnerability, and super strength

Weaknesses

- Amazo must access each hero's abilities separately—he cannot use two powers at the same time.
- Amazo is held back by the directives given to him by its master, and cannot deviate from them.
