

1. What is the Red Card to White Card Transfer?

The Red Card to White Card Transfer allows individuals with an old Victorian construction induction card (Red Card) to transfer to the new WorkSafe VIC-issued White Card. The process is managed remotely via email.

2. How much does it cost to transfer from a Red Card to a White Card?

The cost for the transfer is $75, which includes the WorkSafe Fee.

3. What do I need to complete the Red Card to White Card transfer process?

To complete the transfer, you need to provide an original Red Card, one form of government-issued ID, and a valid Unique Student Identifier (USI) number. Only certified copies are accepted.

4. Do I need to undergo any training for the Red Card to White Card transfer?

No, the transfer is considered a Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), so no additional training is required.

5. What will I receive upon successful completion of the Red Card to White Card transfer?

Upon successful completion, participants will receive a Statement of Attainment and a Construction Induction plastic card issued and mailed by WorkSafe Victoria.

6. Are WorkSafe VIC-issued White Cards accepted nationwide?

Yes, WorkSafe VIC-issued plastic White Cards are nationally accepted all across Australia.

7. What should I do if I lose my WorkSafe VIC-issued White Card?

For a replacement of a lost or stolen WorkSafe VIC-issued White Card, contact WorkSafe VIC on 1300 852 562. The replacement process is free of charge and takes around 10 business days.

8. Can I transfer a construction induction card from another state to a Victorian White Card?

No, only old Victorian Red Cards can be transferred to White Cards through this process. If you have a card from another state, contact the licensing authority in that state.

9. Can the Red to White Card transfer be completed online?

Yes, the transfer process can be completed online via email after booking the service on the Edway Training website.

10. What if I have lost my Red Card? Can I still transfer it to a White Card?

If the original Red Card is lost, you must obtain a replacement card from the original training provider or request an official letter stating your name, Red Card number, and issue date. This documentation is necessary for the transfer process.