READING SECTION

This text is for question number 11 to 14

When we use a camera, the image of an object is focused on the lens which is produced upside-down and reduced on to the film. With the eye, the lens is the pupils and the film is the retina. When an object is "in focus"- that is, seen clearly-the image is formed on the retina. If the image is behind the retina, that is long-sightedness, where a person sees best the things which are furthest away. If the image is in front of the retina that is short-sightedness, where a person needs to have things close to be able to see them clearly.

Just as a photographer would adjust his camera, so an optician carries out tests and finds the best lenses to enable a person to focus an image on the retina.

Many people wear glasses for reading, drawing, studying, watching television, computer work and driving. Any artificial light alters the elasticity of the eye and its ability to focus.

COVID-19 health protocol violators should be sanctioned

COVID-19 health protocol violators should be sanctioned. As we know, the number of people infected with the Covid virus is still increasing in our country, but some people still ignore the health protocol by not wearing mask and keeping their distance.

Firstly, the violators will continue to ignore the health protocol suggested by the government if they aren't sanctioned. By being sanctioned, they will feel deterred and ashamed so that in the future they will obey the rules given.

Secondly, by sanctioning the violators, they will understand responsibility. Not only does it prevent us from being infected by the virus, but adhering to health protocols also keep others safe. We may not feel infected, but at least we prevent bad things by continuing to keep distance and wearing masks. That way, we will fulfill our responsibilities to ourselves and others.

Lastly, giving sanctions to the violators will make them more aware of the danger of COVID-19. It is said that WHO declared COVID-19 a pandemic, which means that this virus is very dangerous, so it is best to continue to maintain health and avoid COVID-19.

This text is for question number 19 to 22

Have you ever wondered how your brain receives a message that makes us feel hungry? Hunger has nothing to do with an empty stomach, as most people believe.

Hunger begins when certain nutritive materials are missing in the blood. When the blood vessels lack these materials, a message is sent to a part of the brain that is called the 'hunger center'. This hunger center works like a brake on the stomach and intestine. As long as the blood has sufficient food, the hunger center slows up the action of the stomach and intestine. When the food is missing from the blood, the hunger center makes the stomach and intestine more active. That is why a hungry person often hears his stomach rumbling.

9. Why does the writer write the text?
  - A. To describe a stomach
  - B. To explain why we get hungry
  - C. To explain the human digestion process
  - D. To tell us how the brain receives a signal from the body
  - E. To inform of the body parts that influence hunger
10. From the text we can conclude that _____
  - A. the brain acts as the center hunger
  - B. the stomach is more active when it is full
  - C. we feel hungry when the food is in the blood
  - D. the stomach rumbles as a signal that it is full
  - E. sufficient food in the blood increases the intestine's work
11. "As long as the blood has sufficient food,...." (Paragraph 2)
What is the synonym of 'sufficient'?
  - A. lowly
  - B. normal
  - C. deficient
  - D. adequate
  - E. excessive
12. What is the main idea of paragraph 2?
  - A. Why people don't get hungry
  - B. The explanation of hunger
  - C. The process of anger
  - D. Hunger is nothing to do
  - E. The general idea of hunger

Recycling

Much of what we throw away could be used again. Recycling puts 'garbage' to good use. Recycling helps preserve precious resources because it saves on the use of raw materials and energy. It also reduces the pollution caused when the waste is dumped.

Glass can be melted. This is better than making fresh glass from raw materials, but it is even better to reuse the bottle whole. Metals can be recycled by being melted and then used to make other new items. The metals to recycle from an ordinary household are aluminum and steel from cans. Scrap from cars gives several different metals for recycling.

Paper is easy to recycle. Every home and office should have a paper reclining routine. Plastics are the worst problem because they do not biodegrade (breakdown) easily. They are also hard to recycle and cause harmful pollution when burned. It is important to use as little plastics as possible, and then only ones that are recyclable or biodegradable.

Dear Dodi,

It was a real sorrow that I heard this morning of your great loss. I knew your father was ill, for your brother told me several weeks ago.
