When we don't build them ourselves, we use third party services to communicate with the people who've trusted us with their personal data. We don't sell our data to anyone and only share it with third parties that will help us update our customers with the latest information on our services, advertise opportunities or analyze how people are using our services. These parties are:

- Sendinblue (email sender)
- Google Analytics (website tracking)
- Gmail (email sender)
- G-Suite (office programs)
- Stripe (payment processor)
- Contracted engineers (for specialized analysis)
- Zendesk (for support tickets)
- Intercom (for on-site messaging)
- Linode (storage)
- Amazon Web Services (storage and messaging)
- Redis (storage)

As this list changes we'll keep it updated, so feel free to check back any time. We do our best to track evolving legislation and you may write to us at privacy@camayak.com if you think we've missed something.
