Allendale Columbia History Teacher Daniel Robb published in JSTOR

Daniel Robb, Allendale Columbia History Teacher, has recently had his writings on the history of science, technology, and exploration published in JSTOR, an on-line digital library. JSTOR is a nonprofit digital library, part of the nonprofit ITHAKA. JSTOR's provides access to knowledge and education for people around the world by partnering with libraries, museums, and publishers to preserve scholarship for the future by providing open access to a range of content.

Daniel joined AC's Upper School as a history teacher in 2023 after serving as a freelance writer and curriculum designer. Prior to his contracted work, he was the history teacher and department lead at BASIS Chandler in Chandler, Arizona. He was also a Subject Expert Teacher in WWorld History and Geography and underwent an AP History training program. Daniel earned his Master of Arts in History degree from the University of Rochester and his two Bachelor of Arts degrees in History and Philosophy from Barrett Honors College at Arizona State University.

Allendale Columbia School

519 Allens Creek Road
Rochester, NY 14618

Now well into its second century, Allendale Columbia is a leading independent coed school for students 18 months old through grade 12. Here, learning goes far beyond books and tests. We have the freedom to dig deeper so students can question more, discuss, debate and question again. As a result, our students develop critical thinking skills and become effective problem solvers. Our faculty members use their independence and experience to connect knowledge to real life so our students can make more sense of the world—and their place in it. It all adds up to a different school of thought: high expectations and relevant experiences that prepare students to succeed in a global community. Visit the school's 33-acre campus at 519 Allens Creek Road in Pittsford or online at AllendaleColumbia.org.
