~Terms Of Service~

You, as the commissioner, are allowed to re-upload my work.

As long as you:

- Always re-upload the watermarked version.
 - Credit me in the title.
- Credit me in the description of the piece you are re-uploading.
 - Link back to the original piece.

The commissioner and any of the character's rightful owners are allowed to re-upload to any website as long as you/they credit me and link back to the original.

- This does not mean your friends and family can re-post the artwork anywhere.
- You may not resell the artwork for money, points, or any other type of currency unless the character itself is being sold.
 - You may not claim the artwork as yours.

Rights:

- I hold the right to deny any commission I do not feel comfortable with working on, or do not feel I can complete to the commissioner's expectations. Do not argue with me, or you may find yourself on a list of people not allowed to commission me.
- If you do post the art you commissioned from me, make sure to include due credit where it is deserved.(As mentioned above) I will report any and all pieces I find that have no credit given (I will message you first of course).
- Do not alter any piece done by me - especially with the signature. If you want something edited or obstructed, please message me and we will work something out.
- I hold the right to stream any and all art I am doing - including commissions - If you would like me not to, simply ask. If you would like a message when I'm streaming it, once again - simply ask.
- If at any given point during the commission I find reason to stop progress and refund any money given at that point I may do so.
- I hold the right to post any commissions I create on any art site and / or in any group at my discretion.

Stolen Characters - Make your own people,fuckin seriously.

Trades:

- I take trades, but I prefer most of the time for you to be close to my level of skill. (This is due to being jipped in the past on trades.) I also require to see my end first on the trade. After you will receive yours, I will not, not give you your piece in return. BUT I am not overly picky, please feel more than free to ask for a trade. Though do not complain or throw a fit if I do not wish to trade with you, this is held at my own discretion. If you do, I will block and report you if necessary.

Requests:

I do not take requests often or at all, please do not ask.

Timelines and Deadlines:

- I do not work on art with timelines. That's plain and simple. I have a busy life, a family, and animals.
- I will get your piece done when I have time. I can usually get them done in a timely manner, and will notify you otherwise.
- If I am taking too long, and you wish to cancel your commission you must let me know before I finish sketching. I will refund 100% of your money if before the sketch is done. If the sketch is finished and lining or the next step has begun 75% of the money will be refunded for my lost time and efforts. If flat coloring has been started, 50% of the money will be refunded; if shading has been started, 25% of the money will be refunded for my lost time and efforts.
- Payment is required at the beginning, I will not start the commission until payment is received.
- Same-day commissions are rare from me. Expect at the very least 1-2 days if I'm not busy and depending on complexity.
- Larger pieces take longer. If you order a full body with a background it's going to take longer than a headshot would. Please be aware of that.

Price Negotiation/Splitting Costs:

- I do negotiate prices, make deals, and I'm flexible. If you want an expensive piece, and can't afford it, or want to tweak it so it's a little cheaper, just ask. I'll see if I can work with you to stay within your budget. I may also take half payment and then the rest after the sketch and lining are done. (Don't take advantage of me though, or the rule will change.)

Work in Progress (Wips):

- I offer work in progress. Don't ask me every single day for one, or I will stop sending them. Use your discretion please.
- I'm always more than happy to talk to you about your piece you ordered, feel free to message me. Keep in mind - If I'm talking to you it's taking away time that I could be working on your piece.
- If I send you a work in progress and you give me the go-ahead to continue I will not go back to fix any mistakes later on in the piece. This is the point of work in progresses - please overlook them thoroughly and I shall wait for your okay to continue.

General Commission Info:

- If you have a character you want drawn you MUST PROVIDE A REFERENCE in some way for me to go off of. (This includes going by description, if you do not give me a fully detailed description I will NOT do the piece(Just know written reference descriptions will cost you extra)) No Ref = No Commission. No Exceptions!
 - Refs may be SFW or NSFW, either or is fine.
- If you cancel a commission in the sketch stage I hold every right to the sketch phase and may use it in another piece.
- I will go back and fix anything that was my fault in any piece at any stage. If you received a work in progress from me though and you accepted it as it was I will not be returning to it as you signed off on it being acceptable.
- Upon completion I will send you the highest quality version of the commission possible for my set-up! I can send you links via Imgur and allow you to download it directly, or I can send the file(s) to a specified email.
- I will fix up to three small things for free, after that it will cost 5$ extra per change.
 - I will not completely redraw, or re-sketch the piece without extra payment.
 - Major edits will cost you extra.

Waiting List:

- All commissions are first come first served, I may have other people ahead of you and your personal commission. I am only human and can only work on one piece at a time, please keep in mind if someone is ahead of you, their piece will be worked on before yours.

If I have not covered anything here that you're interested in, please send me a note and we can discuss further.

By Purchasing a commission/ych from me, or winning a raffle you agree to my terms of service.

These rules are subject to change upon additions, or more unlikely, edits to the actual rules set in place. - Which would only be done upon extreme circumstances, and those commissioning me at the time would be alerted of this.
