The Documentary

Crying SUNNY gif by "moth goes bark#2214"

This is a document that will archive and contain a summarization of every important and noteworthy happenings, along with a few other details that happened during the Discord Plays OMORI event.

This will contain spoilers for OMORI, obviously.

What is Discord Plays OMORI?

Discord Plays Omori (or known better as DPO) is a server-wide event that took place on the official-unofficial OMORI Discord Server between January 23, 2021 to January 27, 2021. DPO uses a stream, where the users of the server can control SUNNY / OMORI through typing in inputs, with the main goal being to beat OMORI as fast as they can with everyone in control, resulting in a chaotic experience, proving this to be a true test of cooperation for the OMORI Discord Hivemind.

The event lasted 4 days / 100+ hours, with a total of 434252 messages sent in the #discord-plays-omori channel, which was 100K messages a day. Comparing this to other channels the Discord had, it took #abyss a month to reach that milestone, and #vast-forest 3 years.

During the 4 days of the event, users interacted and created memorable events, notably Remember the Dig, GILBERT, The Gambling Arc, The Chimera Chase, and FINAL DUET. This document will contain all of these events and happenings that occurred.

Editing has been disabled, and you will need to suggest changes instead - I'll accept the changes when they are completed, and when I've looked over them. This is just to avoid document grieving, and lag.

Make sure to put in your Discord Tag next to your comment so I, and everyone else, know who wrote the comment - and so I can put your name in the list of contributors (Comes later).

Try to explain the event in the fullest detail possible, and elaborate instead of just putting in a title (we won't know what happened if it's just the title.)

Try to keep everything in chronological order. If you are able to post a date or a timestamp to an archived livestream, please do!

If you're able to, or are even bothered to, try to fact check your information by looking at the archived livestreams.

Feel free to suggest any changes to anyone's documentation! I'll be fixing and formatting what you submit, but most of it will be left unchanged.

For hosting the DPO event and archiving the VODs and event channels.

Everyone in the OMORI Discord who participated.

Without everyone, this event wouldn't have been as funny and as chaotic as it was.

This line has a page break.

How to participate in/play DPO:

Firstly, you had to join the OMORI Discord to be able to access the stream and to be able to input commands, as it was hosted on the server. The stream could be found as an unlisted link in the channel description of #discord-plays-omori.

To control the character of OMORI/~~SUNNY~~-sxy, you needed to type any of the following keys/inputs into the #discord-plays-omori channel:

(You can also add a "!" after a direction to run)

Discord Plays OMORI also had a Democracy vs Anarchy system which was implemented mid-way in the stream. With this system, you could vote whether the stream would be in Anarchy, or Democracy. Each mode affected the stream in it's own way:

Anarchy: All commands are executed immediately, except for X, Q and W.

Democracy: All commands are voted on, their voting bars must be filled before they are executed.

Users can vote on what mode to activate by saying anarchy or democracy. Votes last 60 seconds and a mode requires 60% of the total amount of votes to become active. Once a mode is active, it stays so until the other mode gains 60%

The birth of "sxy" and his wacky adventures.

Work on the document has been paused for now since I've been busy with IRL. You're free to make some changes and add things to it though, but I won't be working on it myself personally as much as I'd like to.

A new event has started!! Maybe related to DPO:

The Beginning

Written by In a Daze#3099

The start of the Discord Plays OMORI event. The first input is made by "tommy#0069", marking the beginning of the game. Not much interesting happens, except from a few times where trolls attempted to slow down progress by opening the Menu (X), though this doesn't happen as much. It took approximately 20 minutes for DPO to interact with everything, obtain the SHINY KNIFE, and leave WHITE SPACE.

DPO vs. YE OLD SPROUT

Written by In a Daze#3099

DPO's first "boss fight", and their introduction to follow-up moves. As expected DPO did not listen to HERO's advice and beat YE OLD SPROUT their own way - having the majority repeatedly spam Z (take in mind that Anarchy vs Democracy has not been implemented yet, and that DPO was locked into Anarchy). There were some follow-ups inputted, however DPO were not able to "RELEASE ENERGY", making the fight last longer than it should've. At one point, when HERO prompted us to use the "RELEASE ENERGY" follow up, DPO instead went into the SNACK and TOY menus, and were stuck going back and forth between the menus. Following the chat's indecisiveness of choosing what to do, KEL became TOAST shortly afterwards, with everyone else at the brink of becoming TOAST. The entire boss fight lasted for 12 minutes.

The Kellening

Written by In a Daze#3099

After fighting Ye Old Sprout, OMORI and crew proceeded to Basil's house. This is one of the first instances where trolls (including me) tried to slow down progress by spamming "X" to open the menu. This resulted in DPO ending up on Kel's skill equip screen, and forcibly stripping a part of Kel's personality away from him, then forcibly shoving it back in (we continuously unequipped, then equipped Annoy on Kel), fighting with each other. This lasted for 3 minutes, until Gilbert (AKA Gilbitch, AKA GG142), one of the moderators for the OMORI Discord, and host of the event, used his ~~mod~~godly powers to bypass the chat's slow mode, and spammed X in the last minute in attempt to exit the menu in the last minute.

- "Kel gets a fragment of his personality fucking ripped away from him by Discord chat."

PHOTO ALBUM

Written by In a Daze#3099

The first instance of DPO trying to organise BASIL'S PHOTO ALBUM. As expected, it was absolute hell, proving to everyone that OMORI looked like a schizophrenic. It took DPO approximately 3 minutes to complete the PHOTO ALBUM. Not much happened during this.

Chat names SUNNY

Written by ThatcherSnek#6111

This created one of the most infamous events in the history of Discord Plays Omori. After the prologue, the game prompts you to create a name for the main character, Sunny. Chat, being chat, stumbled upon many names, until unexpectedly agreeing on the name, "sxy". This resulted in the Discord making multiple memes and fanarts around the name.

- "Fuckers took the E from my name. Can't have shit in Faraway."

Bringing s(e)xy back

Written by twiceshy#9418

Shortly after naming our protagonist, chat ended up walking to the save basket in the room nearby and loaded an earlier save, back to the first picnic basket you see in the game i.e. before naming sxy, sxy was gone, and chat was devastated. Chat desperately tried to run back to the basket to bring him back, loading the wrong saves and cutting it close to saving over the one sxy save they had managed to make, but with DIVINE INTERVENTION, we ended up bringing s(e)xy back. The RTD (Remember The Dig) group was also involved with this, and were the main driving force in loading the previous save files. (?) (Considering this was before they formed, this might not be accurate.)

The Reckoning of Hangman

Written by In a Daze#3099

After facing SOMETHING, and the events of the Bad Steak (oh hello Mari), sxy went back to sleep and returned to WHITE SPACE. DPO did all the usual things, until they unlocked HANGMAN that is. This is the 2nd instance of trolls (including me. Yes, I have no shame) trying to delay and stop progress by spamming the HANGMAN menu once it was unlocked. This lasted for 5 minutes, and resulted in Gilbert setting the Q input as Democracy, along with the W input to prevent the menu spam from happening with the Map.

Dying to Bunnies

Written by Shkika#6617

After chat fights for way too long on whether the plants should be watered or not, it encounters it's first(?) actual fight, which is handled wonderfully with sxy (my beloved) becoming Toast and getting a game over. The hivemind does not give up however and proceeds to get back into things. Sxy is once again left on 1 hp point and Aubrey misses her attack. Figuring out enough is enough, chat runs away from the fight and decides to regroup. This leads to the next big event.

- "You know what I hate more than anything else? Bunnies. That's right. Bunnies"

The JACKS Economy

Written by Shkika#6617

Deciding it wasn't time to die again, the OMORicord hivemind decides to go back to the Mailbox and buy some healing items (even though Mari was like 20 steps away). Sxy in a brilliant moment of geniusness, buys some CANDY, APPLE JUICE, and a total of 12 JACKS, successfully leaving the team with 1 CLAM. A few desperate attempts to get their money back, chat sells the candy, apple juice and jacks one by one, successfully making s(e)xy the worst customer in the history of maybe ever. After more fighting, the jacks were bought again, this time leaving sxy with 2 clams. Deciding the battle over JACKS and CANDY couldn't be won, hivemind remembers MARI exists and heals up there anyway, leaving the entirety of these 15 minutes useless.

- "You know what this needs? One more JACK."

PROLOGUE, Part 2 - OTHERWORLD

The Ladder

Written by In a Daze#3099

Overcoming his fear of heights, ~~sxy~~ OMORI and crew headed towards Otherworld, which caused one of the most infamous instances of trolls trying to slow down progress as much as possible. As we all know, to head to Otherworld, you have to climb an unreasonably long ass ladder. The trolls took this opportunity and started to spam "down", making OMORI and crew climb down the ladder instead of up. Naturally, the OMORicord hivemind fought back by out-spamming the trolls with "up", with Gilbert, aka Gilbitch, aka GG142, ~~abusing his mod status~~ using his godlike powers to bypass the slow mode to rapidly spam up. Eventually, we managed to climb up the ladder.

- "Don't walk under ladders - it's unlucky."

The reunion of Kel, and him realising sxy has become a schizophrenic.

The (Non-Existent) Battle for the True Route

Written by Honey#9282

The DPO participants had anticipated a war to start either the True or Hikikomori route (The route where you choose to ignore Kel when he's at the door, and you stay inside for all of the REAL WORLD segments), however, they soon came into the realisation that they were unable to access the route because Gilbert had removed the option to ignore Kel due to the nature of the Hikikomori route seeming nearly impossible to coordinate on this event. Users who wanted the true route were quickly able to leave sxy's room but struggled to answer the door as some tried to get sxy back into his room.

Battle for the Fix-It Job

Written by watchawatchin#9586

After exiting the Hobeez shop, DPO was split between doing the Fix-it job and Gino's Pizza delivery minigames. There were some that were against doing the Fix-it job, but with the help of a mod the participants that wanted it gained more control over the movements. Tired, the Pro-Gino's let the Pro-Fix-It's start the minigame. After misplacing several items and running into walls for a long time, DPO realized the futility of the situation they have gotten themselves into and proceeded to quit the job, also done after aimlessly wandering around the shop.

- "This is the reason why sxy doesn't need a Job."

3 DAYS LEFT - HEADSCAPE

Anarchy and Democracy.

This needs to be fixed up and match the formatting above. I'll fix it up later. - In a Daze.

Pyrefly Forest - Attempt 1?

Tree Battle (ITR#2941) -

After watering flowers and collecting a few items a few people managed to crash us into the tree and we try to fight it, but run away after stabbing it once. We start the fight again and stab it a few times, and give Aubrey brain damage from head butting the tree until at 1 Heart. Eventually we run away either by accident or due to a troll.

The Train Station (ITR#2941) -

After accidentally walking the wrong direction, enough people started walking to the train station for majority to go there, becoming rabbit hunters and vibing to music. Afterwards we successfully get to orange oasis, become the hero of Rain Town, and start breaking faces!

Pyrefly Forest (fried#0996)-

A precursor to more daunting events. The hivemind eventually stumbled through all of the puzzles, but the feeling of desperately fumbling through a map, a gargantuan, eldritch creature at your tail, wouldn't dissipate until much, much later...

Addition (meoumu#8095):

This was the first instance of Gil using his mod powers to nerf the game by setting the spider candle timers to be longer than its default. Second instance was during the 667 chase.

Remember The Dig (tommy#0069)

After making it into Sweetheart's Castle and attempting to save in the dungeon, an old save in Sprout Mole Colony was accidentally reloaded. In the chaos following, a few players in the voice chat redirected the load into Orange Oasis. They led the game into Dino Dig and quickly died to a S.S. Snake in an attempt to start a new game. This failed, and the save in Sweetheart's was loaded. Progress was made, and the Orange Oasis save got overwritten. RTD, aka REMEMBER THE DIG formed immediately. A plan was formed to disrupt the hell out of the game. After being soft-locked talking to Mari for 10 minutes, everyone not involved in RTD gave up and left to take a break. In this time, their inventory was wasted in battles against Harolds. Everyone was left at around 1 health (except for Hero) and Aubrey's weapon was unequipped before overwriting every save. To further the conquest, eventually they managed to die to a Harold and start a new game.

tofu - fried #0996

The voices strengthened. Each down was paired with an up, each right with lefts, and sudden jolts frequently sent the entire party slamming into walls. Omori was tired of it all-- of the rampant screaming in his mind, the slick, daunting walls of the dungeon, the erratic shuffling of feet that simply wouldn't listen to his will. In his desperation, he sought refuge in the abode of a known smuggler, and spent his clams-- ALL of his clams-- on tofu and jacks. fun.

Releasing the Creatures - whatchawatchin#9586

The suggestion of visiting the bear dungeon and killing all the rare bears arose during the process of completing the many quests in Sweetheart's castle, encouraged by a staff, saying they will give out a prize once Discord Plays Omori manages to carry it out. Soon DPO came to an agreement and chose to open the cage, triggering the battle. The bears took away 90% of a teammate's hp in one attack, and Discord Plays Omori wasn't coordinated enough to assign different skills to teammates over multiple battles. Then a participant suggested a strategy, one involving the use of Trip, Omori's follow-up attack, and spamming Attack with the other members without healing, and while reluctant at first the rest of Discord Plays Omori stuck to the strategy. After a few game overs and follow-up fails, Discord Plays Omori defeated all the bears and got their aforementioned prize, jam packets and jacks that were in the melons inside the bear cage.

(feel free to suggest edits, my grammar is terrible)

("Adding on to this!!" - aeon#1020)

As an extra incentive for the battle, moderator Tsubasa Setsuna mentioned a reward/gift to be given after defeating the bears.

The reward was a "Bear Gang" role being added to #dpo-roles, as well as the implementation of the Anarchy-Democracy meter. This meter is considered a staple to Discord Plays Omori, and would help shape the landscape of all the events to come.

Addition (ITR#2941)

The incentive was added after we had convinced enough people to pet the bears, though it was planned beforehand, we didn't get told about it / encouraged by moderators before after the fight had started.

Sweetheart Battle - Rockrozma #5102

A surprise to many. Luck on the dream level

On Jan 25 2020 14:00, Sweetheart was beaten on the first try, which came as a welcome surprise to many participants. This is also the second recorded use of Release Energy. A intense fight, participants were frequently cancelling and redoing actions. Aubrey and Kel were killed early on, and at approx. the 3rd to last turn of the fight, Omori was killed by Sweetheart, but OMORI DID NOT SUCCUMB and in the same turn healed to full health + juice while Hero used two jam packets to revive both Aubrey and Kel. Kel gets Aubrey and himself ANGRY (which was a bad move) soon enough. On the next turn, Hero gets toasted (from half health) while a FURIOUS Omori then ATTACKING AGAIN to defeat Sweetheart once and for all.

Note (made by Anomaletix#2292)

The Sweetheart fight was NOT actually the first recorded instance of DPO using Release Energy. The first one (To my knowledge) was during one of the fights in the maze.

(entry was corrected)

C A T.

Day 2 (ITR#2941) - We successfully feed the cat during both the day and the afternoon.

Feeding the cat -Creeket#4274

Cat food consisted of the fish bought from the asian fish lady in Othermart. After expending all the fish, the hivemind collectively decides that the kitty's appetite is far more important than every participant's time, and so, with plenty back and forth, everybody eventually makes it back to the fish lady, and ends up spending the next over 30 minutes swatting flies in exchange for her cash. Then, of course, exchanging her own cash for her fish and feeding the fish to our lord and savior, the cat.

DPO vs. "Experiment 667" - Thatcher Snek#6111 & aeon#1020

"Truly phenomenal" - Ninshona#8796

"Agreed" - ThatcherSnek#6111

ThatcherSnek's Section.

On January 26, 2021, Discord Plays Omori reached Humphrey and went north into one of the sections. This section included the fanbase-infamous "Experiment 667", nicknamed Chimera. Chat, being chat, went through around 2 and a half hours of attempting to outrun the Chimera. During these 2 and a half hours, arguments, drama, and teams were created to attempt to outrun the Chimera.

aeon's Section

(Adding onto this! Trying to go in a bit more detail. - aeon#1020)

The Chimera chase was one of the few times where the slow mode of Discord-Plays-Omori would be reduced to zero, creating a chaotic chat. Tactics and plans were formed, with maps being made to detail exactly what everyone would need to do. Despite this, very little progress was made to pass the chase sequence, leading to the reimplementing of slow mode, and a lifeline being given from moderator Gilbert. This lifeline would be in the form of a 'nerf' to the Chimera, making it slower and, hopefully, letting the chat get past it.

But this didn't work because the hivemind known as chat can be incredibly stupid at times. Time flew by, and yet chat was no closer to getting past the Chimera. Slow Mode was turned off again, and despite their best efforts, all hope seemed to be lost... However, Legendary Moderator Gilbert would take matters into his own hands.

The tactic known as "Gilbert Solo" would be used. Moderator Tsubasa would turn on slow mode once more, and Legendary Moderator Gilbert would attempt to solo the first Chimera area with his godly (no i meant modly!) powers. Despite his help, Discord rate-limiting him would prove to be fatal to the 'Gilbert Solo' tactic, and he would employ the help of the other members of the DPO chat. Although it took several more tries, with expert coordination from both Gilbert and other members of the DPO chat, they were able to conquer the Chimera Chase.

Upon leaving the area, Discord temporarily lagged as the chat burst into excited cries. The hype of the moment caused several people to drop gifts in the chat, such as Nitro Classic, and Steam Keys.

Rabbit Hell in Dino Dig - meoumu#8095

The second to last room, we wanted to kill the chickens there to make sure we could kill the top chicken before it ran. The rabbits in the room got in the way and it was tough to battle them. We ended up killing all the rabbits and both chickens in that room. The chicken in the top room was killed and we got a chicken ball for Kel but instead of using up the digs to go back, someone wanted to get the X key, so we went back to the Rabbit Hell room and got double-teamed by two of them. Knocked out 2 members so we were trying to die and use a continue to restart the battle but the rabbit wouldn't stop winking rather than attacking, prolonging the sweet release of death.

Uprising of "Remember The Dig" - meoumu#8095

RTD group did an anti-progress raid while we were in the right Humphrey room after doing the 667 chase. Organized effort to use all our items (which included fries, whole chicken, dino clumps, sno-cones, etc.) while in battle with slime bunnies. Because all the food/drinks were consumed, it was called Picnic Without Mari. All our toys were either used in battle as well, or trashed (we had emotional toys like rain clouds and airhorn). They shuffled the party members' skills and equipment to unoptimal options. They then saved over all 6 slots so no one could reload a save to get the items back.

1/26 Inside Job Conspiracy

After the infamous 2 and a half hour long Chimera fight, Discord Plays Omori later got bombarded by the "Remember the Dig" activist clan (see "The Picnic without Mari"). While it discontended the serious and active users of the chat, it also pleased more of the trolls, which they later ended up joining with the RTD. Later on, a picture was sent showing one of the Omoricord admins, Gilbert, also known as Gilbitch and GG142, telling #1 LIFE JAM GUY FAN, to "get the rtd group together... use everything you have; every little bit of trolling in your bones" (Quoted from Gilbitch). With this in mind, the raid was an inside job from Gilbert, to delay the stream and final boss to tomorrow.

Unbread Twins Fight (rockrozma#5102)

A detour to Humphrey led to the bonus boss fight, Unbread Twins. The actual fight lasted a duration of approx. 30 mins, with us 1st trying (again). Rather uneventful.

Gambling

"During the Last Resort quest, after the fight with boss "Jawsum", Discord Plays Omori decided to take a quick break and took a detour. This would lead to the gambling events, where the Discord Plays Omori chat bet clams and be surprised by virtual currency.

As of 1/26/2021, Discord Plays Omori went to gamble after the "Remember the Dig" raid, and currently are at around 80k and rising at the time of writing. Later on, the chat won the jackpot of x1000, going around 190,000 clams.

There's legitimately only 3 members. It's stayed that way throughout the duration of the event. I'd say this was a failed attempt at overthrowing RTD. ~~why is this even on here???~~

WELCOME TO BLACK SPACE

This is DPO

This is the part where everything degrades. Right now it's just simple notes, but once all of the VODs are uploaded, I'll update everything correctly.

Funky music

Gil locks in anarchy while we're in black space lmao. Democracy is dead!

Kill Mewo or no? Who knows! Find out later

The Mewo Wars:

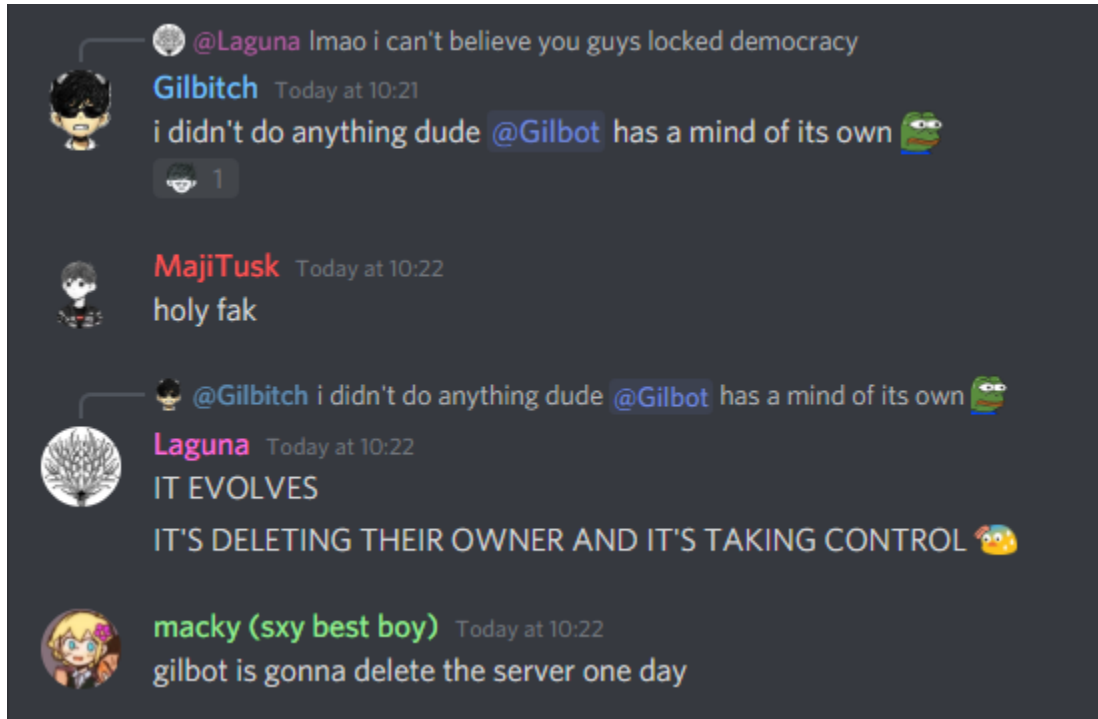

To Kill or Not to Kill, that is the question - In a Daze#3099

The Discord suddenly becomes (cont.)

Gilbot takes over - In a Daze#3099

Democracy is dead in BLACK SPACE, there is only Anarchy. Gilbert (AKA Gilbitch, AKA GG142), disabled Democracy once the OMORicord hivemind reached BLACK SPACE. However, Gilbert retorts this, and according to his statement (directly quoted from Discord): "i didn't do anything dude @Gilbot has a mind of its own ", Gilbot (assumably the bot that records the inputs from #discord-plays-omori and handles all of the technical stuff) took over and disabled it. Ah yes, our technological overlords are now taking over.

Footage of the Final Night (including VC recording), recorded by GameHero152#3771
(apologies for the singing that happens.)

Everything that started must come to an end. On January 27, 2021, Discord Plays Omori finally reached the penultimate chapter, the finale. Around 100+ people in VC, 100+ watching the stream, and so many people in chat that Discord couldn't load most of the messages/input. This section lasted around 3 hours, where chat argued and fought between many things, one of which was which direction/ending we should choose - Left or right? Good or Bad? Good Morning or Oyasumi? DPO was split in two, however, one fact still remained: we all managed to work together to complete the game.

Not only that, but many changes were made, infamously, OMORI being switched out for the admin big boss himself, Gilbert, which everyone went batshit crazy over. After all of this, we finally came to a decision. Democracy and the people made their choice, it was the Good ending. Final duet was modified to have Sunny wear the iconic "Gilbert Shades™". Everyone still cried in the end anyways. Finally, we reached Basil's hospital room, and everything after was over. We also had a karaoke session in VC (see Karaoke Night), that was fun. The voice chat was unlike anything i've heard before, it became more earrape than actual voices as countless people talked over each other, truly a representation of sxy's mental state by this point in the game. Below are images shot straight from the event.

Karaoke Night - ThatcherSnek#6111

Certainly one of the only times where the almost of the entirety of Discord Play Omori united together. After sxy meeting up with Basil, we get the Good ending which plays a karaoke version of "Good Morning" by Jami Lynne. DPO VC agreed to all to attempt to sing it, which resulted in the video below.

Video also includes the last 15 minutes of the game (karaoke starts at 10:24)

I'll start off with a basis (ThatcherSnek#6111)

"Discord Plays Omori is a server-wide event that took place between January 23, 2021 to January 27, 2021. DPO uses a stream, where the users of the server can control Sunny through typing in inputs, and the main goal is to beat OMORI as fast as they can. During the 4 days of the event, users interacted and created memorable events, notably Remember the Dig, GILBERT, and The Gambling Arc.

I think this will be an improved outlook - interesting#7171 - is it a bit wordy?

Discord Plays Omori(or known better as DPO) was an event that occurred between the dates of January 23 2021 up to January 27 2021. The event consisted of a server controlling the character through their keystrokes and inputs, which ensued chaos, but what is DPO without chaos? The primary ways of choosing where the main characters were to do and act through the means of 'Anarchy' and 'Democracy'. With anarchy being - well... Anarchy, with everyone having the ability to attempt to impose their will on a arguably very annoyed character, Democracy on the other hand, was a replication of actual democracies which worked by having every movement dictated by the chat - a quite literal representation of the current state of american politics. Each key was bound to the equivalent key on a QWERTY keyboard - with the exception of shift, the keybinds were to be either changed into their full word forms, or simply as it was on the keyboard. Shift being used as a suffix to be inserted at the end of the word, such as up! The mode of anarchy also had some quirks, as the letters X,Q and W were edited to always be locked on democracy, utterly destroying any peoples with the intent to annoy. The primary goals of this social experiment was to do a complete rendition of omori - albeit with a few anomalies... (gilbert, the spiders and 667). The route of this journey was True and the agreed on name was s(e)xy with an implied E. However move on, as one should not take up the spotlight, this is DPO and the choice is always CHAOS.

I'm going to do a foreword as well, a short one...

Now that you have seen the journey of four days, how do you feel? Isn't the whole point of video games to open the mind? Well... then again this was never meant to show anything but the power of emergence, how a group or colony can achieve anything given the time and motivation... but this is not the end, it is simply renewed, sxy cannot die now, as long as this memory continues in us, this is not the end, but a new beginning. Good day and I wish you an interesting time.

A summary of DPO:

Bored children control a constantly spazzing out boy who gets over his fear of heights, spiders and water + telling the truth about Mari's death by running into walls.

A bit too wordy but it works. I can shorten it if need be. -In a Daze
