

Hello, my name is Robinson Derick. I'm the owner and CEO of Team Legacy. We are a multi-platform and multi-media gaming organization. At this current time, we are looking for graphic designers that are interested in getting involved in the gaming industry. As a graphic designer myself, I will be working side by side with you and other graphic designers. I will be able to provide great feedback, information, and knowledge on how to do specific designs to get a specific look. If you are an amateur or a professional graphic designer I'm sure we will be able to help you improve your skills and provide opportunities to further your career. If you feel like you can contribute, feel free to read over our application for more info and see if this is something you see yourself doing.

I value your time and I appreciate you taking the time to read this.

To apply, to go TeamLegacyus.org