What:a trip report

Day 1

With a brand new Disney park coming to Anaheim, it only makes sense that a trip report from Team L.A.N.D. Comes with it. So join us in our many adventures through Disney Atlantis. Starting with an early flight, & arriving at roughly 11:00 AM. We all checked in & headed into the park, meeting up in Valle De Villanos (the hub of the park)

. We split up temporarily but had exclusive reservations at Tiana's Place, the premiere restaurant of the park, until then....

The Shadow Cafe (Sponsored By Starbucks Coffee)

A grand cafe with jazz performances & a purple & black color scheme... is actually just a StarBucks. But a grand cafe nonetheless. & since IT IS A STARBUCKS, it was an essential destination for @pufflefan & @Gam3rprincess

The Presto! Magic Shop

I'm not sure but I think @NateD1226, @Mickeyfan5535, & @Evilgidgit checked out the Presto magic shop. A one stop shop for all things magic based off of the Pixar short-film Presto!, With both a theatrical & magic shop aesthetic

Light-house Point

Well none of us were able to see this magnificent view, we all agreed to come here at the end of the day

Tiana's Place

Well the chefs are still testing out the menu, (it's amazing we were even able to get these early reservations) we made sure to try the park's signature drink, the Hat Tricks. A strong, deep blue, blueberry cocktail & of course THE BEIGNETS! In this premiere restaurant based off of The Princess & The Frog

Meet The Robinsons Adventure

Before we finished off our day we made sure to go on the main E-Ticket, Meet The Robinsons Adventure! A spectacular Omni-mover dark-ride based off of the film
