Another big race for the team. I'm so proud of the fight you all showed today. 18 total PRs is pretty impressive. You all believe in each other, the training, and the goals. This is what will continue to carry us this season. As we get back to work on Monday, the key is going to be to stay focused and move on from this race. We've got another big week with Hagan Stone this weekend. Let's get to work and reset with new goals.
