

Hi Stephanie,

As someone who suffered from PTSD, coming across your website and seeing all the people you've helped with your "transformation after trauma" course , made me want to give something back to you.

As a thank you, I've included a youtube community post and an email that guarantees 25% more clicks to your website.

These 2 pieces will direct more people over to your website and bring in a couple more sales because of their eye-catching subject lines and god-tier CTAs.

I'd love to discuss additional strategies (killer funnel strategies, scroll-stopping strategies and more) for your business to stand out and provide more value to the audience.

Would you be interested in exploring these ideas together?

Hope you find these pieces helpful and let me know if you'd like me to make any adjustments.

All the best,
Aram Doudaklian
