

I watch as the dewdrops fall from your tired eyes,

Dripping onto the grass in wonderful arrays of constellations

And I watch as the flowers bloom from your fingertips,

Painting the field in lovely hues of pastel paint splatters

-E.L.S