– Refund Policy –

Should you have commissioned a piece that is still in my queue, you may request a refund, which I will address as soon as possible. Full refunds are issued when the commissioned piece has not been worked on, or only the sketch was finished.

After the sketch was approved by the commissioner, refunds may not be issued.

– Changes, project files –

Should the sketch provided not be satisfactory, the commissioner can request changes twice without additional charge. After that, every change costs an additional 10% of the original commission price.

After sketch approval, only minor changes can be requested free of charge. Major changes will cost 75% of the original commission price.
