Opening Notes

I am writing this on June 17th, 2026, one day before I am supposed to confront Wolfoan. It is my sincere hope that this document never has to be released, and I've put off making it for so long because of that. Despite having known that he is Porkstride for a week, I still have hope that this can be resolved maturely, privately, and professionally.

The Opening of Rebels (Wolfoan HQ)

On May 3rd, I was messaged by a close friend of mine about a project they thought I might have interest in. This project turned out to be Rebels, and I had some concerns about the character they wanted me to play, so I expressed those.

5/3/26, 12:06

yo, a friend of mine, Wolfoan, is casting people for a scripted series he's making, currently he's looking for someone that can act as a "very artistic and outgoing, kinda a teenager vibes, female character", if you're interested this is the Discord server <https://discord.gg/g4kn7r5ErV>

Uhhh I can definitely do this type of character but I do have things that are holding me back. After coming out as a trans guy I feel less and less comfortable doing female roles because I'm afraid I'll only be perceived as a woman if those are the roles I'm playing. I can do it, I just want a way for it to be clear to everyone both in the server and in the audience that the person playing the character (me) is a guy

I was told that a woman would probably be better for the role, but that I could join anyways and that they would find a role for me.

I did end up joining the server, and Wolfoan reached out to me asking if I knew anyone who would be interested in acting in the series. I recommended a friend of mine who's a really good actor, and that was the majority of the conversation.

Wolfoan 5/3/26, 19:52

was wondering if you know of anyone that would be cool to act in the series? im finding it very hard finding people, since idk many people, nws if not but i had to ask

After this, I forgot about the server for a while, because nothing happened for a bit. As well, this was at the same time as I was setting up Chamber Trials, so I was extremely busy.

Increasing Popularity and Rising Concern

Around June 10th was when the server caught my attention again due to its rising popularity. It had very quickly gone from about 40 of us to hundreds, and I was impressed and extremely proud of Wolfoan for the attention his series was getting. We shared a short conversation about my happiness for him that I will not share, as it was personal to the both of us. I was then modded and added to the main cast, which I was incredibly excited about and I was happy to make a new friend.

Around the same time the server's popularity started growing, about 2 hours after I had received a moderator position, I was reached out to by Sniffee, who had growing concerns about the project and its creator. Her and I had bonded a bit over what had happened with PorkStride, but we didn't talk much, so when she sent me a message I read it carefully. She expressed that the mannerisms of Wolfoan matched those of PorkStride, and explained concerns about his account being created in April, directly after the two of us had shared our experiences with PorkStride.

SniFee  6/11/26, 18:09

Hello, could I perhaps talk to you about the Minecraft project titled "Rebels" you're a mod for? I have some concerns around it and thought you might be able to help me resolve them!

As you know, Rebels is hosted by a creator called "Wolfoan" who has made his first discord account, as well as his twitter account in April of this year, 2026. Do you remember something else that happened in April? I posted a document on my Twitter about Porkstride to which you replied with your own experience. Now, I could be very wrong and I don't claim that any of my suspicions are true, so please keep that in mind!

Wolfoan has had 3 discord accounts who are all in the Rebels Discord server, an account which is labelled as "spammer", an account he "lost the email for" and his current account. Besides that he also owns a account made with the Rebels branding.

From looking at the coincidence of Wolfoan's accounts being made in April, to the way he formats his Twitter posts, to how he doesn't seem to have any connections within the minecraft community (as like, people following/friending him on socials) I am worried. I am scared that Porkstride made new accounts

Could you give me an insight towards if I'm just being dramatic? thank you and sorry for this long message! (edited)

I was a bit skeptical, but I decided to look into it as this, surprisingly, was not the first time we had suspected Pork had made a new account. The first time had turned out to be false, but I decided to look into this situation further and ensured Sniffee her fears were not dramatic.

MidnightF4lls 🔥 SOLS 6/11/26, 18:30

No it's okay!! I totally understand the concerns, and this is actually not the first time this has happened, though last time we suspected someone else to be Porkstride. It led to an investigation that ultimately came up negative, but the fact that this is coming up a second time with a different person is a valid concern.

The person who invited me to Wolf's server is a trusted friend that I would sincerely hope wouldn't trick me like that, especially knowing my experience. However I will question him on things such as how long they've known each other, how they met, and what Wolf did before scripted content. This is something I promise I'm taking seriously and considering has happened before, have a team of people who would also be willing to help me look into it.

Thank you so much for telling me this!! We've gotta keep each other as safe as possible out there

Investigation Into Similar Mannerisms

The first person I contacted was someone who I've consulted in situations like this before. I was looking for emotional support and someone who would look at things logically, and this friend would be able to give me both. I expressed a few concerns to him, beginning to think about the situation more.

I was hurt and scared, as he had not only come after me for my connections again but had befriended me and modded me knowing what he had done in the past.

Confronting Wolfoan/Porkstride

As of 6/17/2026, this has not happened yet. This is part of this document that I hope I never have to write, as I want to resolve things in a private manner. My goal is to advise Wolf/Pork to admit who he is, not just to me and Sniffee, but to everyone.

I believe that last time I wrote a document on him I should have spoken with him first instead of instantly taking them to Twitter. The way I behaved was rash, and I hope to not repeat it this time around, which is why I'm speaking to him first. I hope that this way, we can keep drama out of the overall MCYT space and we can remain friends, because I do care about him and want to see him succeed. However, the only way that can happen is if he admits to who he is.

@MidnightF4lls SOLS Can I ask how you've been trying to improve? What mistakes have you been trying to correct?

WolfFoan REBL 12:46 PM

my largest mistake was my ego and how I measured success based on others fame or on numbers, I am truly doing everything I can to find cool actors for Rebel who can be anyone, youtuber or not, famous or not.

Ive also worked on myself irl with meditation classes and yoga, I cant know for sure of course, but I think I have become less angry and selfish through this, irl and online.

MidnightF4lls SOLS 1:00 PM

You say you've worked on yourself, but I see you repeating some of the same behaviors you had when you were PorkStride. You messaged me asking if I knew anyone who would want to work on the project which is exactly what you did back then, and while I didn't understand it back then either, I know you meant larger creators both times. I've messaged a friend about my suspicion (I won't name who), but he told me you tried to reach him about a creator that you wanted in the series. To me I really don't think your biggest mistake was your ego, I think it was purposely befriending people only to get to their friends through them. It was something that really hurt me and a lot of other people, and I feel like it's something that you either don't realize you did or refuse to own up to. (edited) @MidnightF4lls SOLS You say you've worked on yourself, but I see you repeating some of the same behaviors you had when you were PorkStride. You messaged me asking if I kn...

WolfFoan REBL 1:03 PM

no i agree im so sorry, thats what im trying to say, before i befriended people jsut to find other creators, and i dont think ive done that since but i am truly trying not to, the friends i have made here and now i talk to and have played with, not to find other youtubers or creators like before, i have friends now as my mod team and in cast not just youtubers, i cannot say that i am now perfect whatsoever but I am not the same and am everyday trying to change that mindset for the better

MidnightF4lls SOLS 1:25 PM

I think to show you really have changed, it would be a good idea to inform not just me about who you were, but everyone. I think everyone deserves to know, because if you still feel the need to deceive all of them then it doesn't really show that you have changed or want to change. I think who you were, plus everything that happened, needs to be publicized to show that you're really trying.

I understand you might be scared, and I understand that you might lose part of your audience and cast through that, but it's something that needs to be done. It would be better for you to admit to it than for it to eventually blow up in your face, because if I'm being honest, you were pretty obvious about it and other people definitely know, and if they don't they're close to figuring it out. If you're really trying to make something you care about and you truly don't care about who sees it or who's a part of it, it's really important to be transparent so that you don't have an audience that's based off of lies.

You've really hurt me when it comes to all of this, and I don't want to see other people get hurt

Despite that I do still want to help you change, and I think this is the best way to do that I am truly sorry I hurt you, i never meant to at all, and do want to change from porkstride.

i also do not want anyone else or you to get hurt, that is my honest human goal.

i also do have to help my parents unpack so i do have to go for a bit mb! ill be back ina bit to see what you have dmed

WolfFoan REBL 1:34 PM

i really do appreciate this, and i know it may seem i havent changed but I have and I know I have because it feels amazing

MidnightF4lls SOLS 1:54 PM

The fact that you were getting death threats is completely unreasonable, but the thing is it's still important to admit to it yourself. It's going to be so, so much worse if someone else decides to say something instead of you, and again, I genuinely think it's only a matter of time before someone else finds out. If you do get death threats though, I can 100% take the full force of responding to those and if they end up in your dms, I think it would be important to tell me and/or ignore any message requests for the time being.

It's not healthy to have a community built on lies, and it could genuinely all just fall apart in an instant that way. Taking the situation into your own hands and admitting to it yourself would be the best option here, instead of just waiting in anticipation for someone else to do it for you because as I keep saying, other people will figure it out. It's just a matter of when.

MidnightF4lls SOLS 2:16 PM

All good dw

I don't think you'll lose your friends, especially if they can understand that you're changing and admitting to it

This was the full conversation that led to me posting this document. As you can see I tried so many times to get Pork to admit to what he had done now as well as what he had done in the past, and it hurts me to have to write this as I did consider Wolf oan a friend. I wish I could say he had changed, but he hasn't.

He said on Twitter that he had admitted to it because of his recent growth, but I know for certain had he not been caught, he would not have done so through our conversation today. I had to fully convince him to do so, and even then he did not do so properly.

I am sorry if my addition to this document today is short. I just wanted to share my reasoning for bringing this to the public, and to make you all aware that more has happened than he is saying. I will link documents from previous victims below. I won't be responding to anything unless it's a close friend, because as I've said Wolf was my friend and I'm going to take some time to process losing that friendship.

PLEASE DO NOT HARASS WOLF/PORK OR ANY OF HIS STAFF. DEATH THREATS ARE UNACCEPTABLE, AND WHILE WE CAN BE ANGRY AT A SITUATION, HURTING SOMEONE ELSE IS ONLY GOING TO MAKE THINGS WORSE.

Thank you all for reading. Wolf, I'm sorry it had to come to this.
