

Fenrisson's a wolf with a fairly muscular build, but not incredibly buff. Think more like a slightly bulkier swimmer or martial artist instead of linebacker or bodybuilder. His fur's mostly black, fading to grey for hyena-like spots on his back and arms, and becoming an odd acid green on his chest, the underside of his throat, muzzle, and forearms, and in streaks through his tail. A mohawk-like crest of fur starts at just between his shoulders and runs up his neck to the top of his head, where it's about 6 inches past the rest of his fur. The mohawk is black with green streaks.

Fenrisson usually wears Army-style camoflague fatigue pants and combat boots. His grey tank top has a logo on it of a wolf paw inside a spiked circle. Over that, he wears a vest made of a black leather biker jacket with the sleeves removed and a spiked football shoulderpad attached to its left shoulder. He's also got a spiked leather collar with a military-style dogtag, and a plain leather wristband buckled around his right wrist.