

P6 Kowz - Mephisto

Public Profile (Player Card)

[1] Name: Mephisto, the Faceless One, AKA Peter Stevens

[2] Physique: A lean, borderline lanky 6'1" (185cm) human male with dark purple eyes.

[3] Attire: An overly dramatic and flamboyant purple, black, and gold suit coupled with a black, gold, and crimson cape. Its over the top presentation helps mask the fact it is quite a high tech suit filled with various gadgets and gizmos. Wears a violet contact lens with a bird on it.

[4] Homeworld: A bleak, gray world with many things that once comprised the spices of life gone and lost to the unfortunate wheels of fate. Technology is very advanced, their culture varies, and the obscuring of one's face is considered the highest of crimes.

[5] More Info.: He has a gun.

[6] Character Image(s): Picture

Private Profile (Character & Universe)

[7] Rough Background: The year is 8008135 AL, often referred to more simply as 69420 PV, or even more simply as 1337 AV. A battle spanning millions of starships, nearly a trillion people, and over a hundred thousand star systems comes to a climactic end as the VTA rebel forces are beaten back and subjugated by the Galactic Face Federation. The largest war in recorded history comes to a close and the VTA is forced into the shadows.

15 years later, a young man and rising star within the VTA on some unimpressive world in the corner of the galaxy begins garnering a reputation as a sort of calculated daredevil. One day, however, a gambit of his pays off in ways entirely unexpected and would henceforth spell the torturous end of his typical life. After stealing a scientific wonder rivalling the gods — a technology developed in secret on his world — he is cursed to be the last person to experience many, many, many things. Bit by bit the vibrance of existence itself is drained into a muted grey as activity, act, and pleasure repeatedly vanish from the universe evermore. In a fashion completely out of his control he is propped up by coincidence and accident as a galactic terrorist, a god, a mastermind, and much, much more. Though, none of that matters to this man. No, because what consumes his mind and fuels his ambitions is no longer the VTA or the GFF, but his seething hatred for Sat Pajak and his torturous hope of never having to play Wheel of Fortune again.

[8] Important Moments:

- His birth on June 9th, 800826 AL, 69411 PV, 1328 AV.
- Joining the VTA at the age of 14.
- Stealing the SCRONCH-MONCH, aka Sequence Calibrating Rotational Optics Nest Conditioner-Heat Managing Oscillating Neutron Collider Harmony.
- Being sucked into Wheel of Fortune hell after a random grunt asks, “Hey, Mephisto, would you play a game of Wheel of Fortune that’d determine the fate of the universe?”
- Being the last person to get injected with the BTGV vaccine, stopping Mephisto from aging.
- Being named the most wanted criminal in the GFF.
- Being hailed as the hero that revived the VTA.
- Being the last person to die and reach real Hell.

[9] Character Relationships:

- Sat Pajack — Wheel of Fortune game show host. Mephisto absolutely hates him and has an obsessive desire to end their life.
- Whanna Vite — Wheel of Fortune game show assistant. Mephisto absolutely hates her and very badly wants to bitch slap her.
- Bob Schlowl — The grunt that asked Mephisto the question that got him stuck in his hell.
- Parents — Died in the great war.

[10] Motives:

- Kill Sat Pajak.
- Never play Wheel of Fortune again.
- Kill Sat Pajak.
- Bitch slap Whanna Vite.
- Kill Sat Pajak.

[11] Likes:

- Delicious food, especially ramen and ice cream.
- Women not named Whanna Vite.
- Sleeping.
- Cats.
- Panties and pantyshots.

[12] Dislikes:

- Sat Pajak.
- Whanna Vite.
- Wheel of Fortune.
- Game shows.
- Vtubers.
- Parrots.

[13] Misc. Character Info:

- Owns a full blown restylized VTA commander suit that has various weaponry and gadgets lining it. He refers to it as his "Fuck Suit".
- Wanders from place to place, world to world. Usually just starts living in random people's homes and if they complain too much he either kills them or leaves depending on his mood.

[14] Homeworld: An unimpressive homeworld that he has since abandoned. He lives in the GFF's galactic space empire and wanders from place to place. Despite being extremely advanced scientifically, most worlds resemble the real world in terms of displayed technology and customs.

Private Profile (Backstory)

[15] Backstory: The year is 8008135 AL, often referred to more simply as 69420 PV, or even more simply as 1337 AV. A battle spanning millions of starships, nearly a trillion people, and over a hundred thousand star systems comes to a climactic end as the VTA rebel forces are beaten back and subjugated by the Galactic Face Federation. The largest war in recorded history comes to a close and the VTA is forced into the shadows.

15 years later, a young man and rising star within the VTA on some unimpressive world in the corner of the galaxy begins garnering a reputation as a sort of calculated daredevil. One day, however, a gambit of his pays off in ways entirely unexpected and would henceforth spell the torturous end of his typical life. After stealing a scientific wonder rivalling the gods — a technology developed in secret on his world — he is cursed to be the last person to experience many, many, many things. Bit by bit the vibrance of existence itself is drained into a muted grey as activity, act, and pleasure repeatedly vanish from the universe evermore. In a fashion completely out of his control he is propped up by coincidence and accident as a galactic terrorist, a god, a mastermind, and much, much more. Though, none of that matters to this man. No, because what consumes his mind and fuels his ambitions is no longer the VTA or the GFF, but his seething hatred for Sat Pajak and his torturous hope of never having to play Wheel of Fortune again.

Mephisto joins the VTA rebel forces at the age of 14 and within a few years becomes the leader of his homeworld's VTA faction. At the age of 24 a heist that would change history is pulled off as the SCRONCH-MONCH (Sequence Calibrating Rotational Optics Nest Conditioner-Heat Managing Oscillating Neutron Collider Harmony) is stolen from a secret GFF research facility. The scientific device's ability borders on godly magic as it consumes an entire parallel universe, transforms it into energy, and grants wishes with near infinite amounts of energy. When the payload is in transit back to the VTA headquarters a grunt by the name of Bob Schlowl asks, "Hey, Mephisto, would you play a game of Wheel of Fortune that'd determine the fate of the universe?" He replies 'Yes' and in an instant the device is accidentally used.

For the next 19,000 years Mephisto would play Wheel of Fortune, on average, every 6 days. He would only be able to stop if we won and whatever word or phrase was the winner's final question would end up being some concept, object, or activity that he would be the last in the entire universe to experience. The first thing he would be the last to ever do was the use of SCRONCH-MONCH technology. A few months later he would be the last person to ever use the anti-aging BTGV vaccine. As the years, decades, centuries, and eventual millennia's piled on more and more things would be experienced for the last time at his hands.

Within two years Mephisto had grown sick of his situation and his hatred for Sat Pajak was getting to the point where his entire purpose revolved around ending the man who wholesomely taunted him over and over again. By no choice of his own his accidental exploits would result in him being named the most wanted criminal in the galaxy by the GFF and the biggest hero humanity's ever seen by the VTA. Consumed by despair, anger, and an inability to connect with people due to his own circumstances, his singular goal was all that kept him grounded. He would kill Sat Pajak even if he died trying.

At the age of 19,069, Mephisto receives the final topic hint "Tragedies" with the answer being "Death". His goal of killing Sat Pajak was now on the clock as failure to do so before his own death would mean the denial of the one thing keeping him going this entire time. At the same time, he had been trying for almost 20,000 years and was entirely stumped on where Sat Pajak actually was located. A few days later while chilling on a random person's couch in a stolen bathrobe waiting for some instant ramen to cool off, Mephisto is hit in the head with a meteor fragment. Two meteors had collided in midair during entry, breaking them into thousands of pieces that harmlessly landed on the ground to the amazement of the populace... well, with the exception being Mephisto's death. This incident sparks a civilization-wide effort to increase the durability of people and their living situations, resulting in the LULMAO vaccine being invented and distributed to all living people via electromagnetic DNA rewriting calibrations. Humans become invincible beings incapable of aging or death.

Private Profile (Roleplay & Game)

[16] Death: The last game of Wheel of Fortune had the category "Tragedies" with the answer being "Death" in the bonus round. A few days later Mephisto dies when two meteors collide together on entry, shattering into thousands of pieces that miraculously landed in just the right places to kill no one except Mephisto. He is hit in the head with a meteor fragment while lounging around grumpily in his bathrobe on the couch as he was waiting for his instant ramen to cool off.

[17] Unique Weapons: Guns, gadgets, and traps contained within his Fuck Suit.

[18] Unique Equipment: His special Fuck Suit and its accompanying gadgets.

[19] Unique Abilities: Whatever crazy stuff his Fuck Suit has.

[20] Unique Roleplay: He will act like hot shit as well as a stereotypically chuuni in the presence of people or groups of people that he feels a need to live up to his notoriety. That said, he will not always act this way and often act more true to himself... which is being a cynical asshole.

[21] Additional Information: His Fuck Suit is definitely high tech, but it also isn't something too crazy. It doesn't make him a miniature gundam or anything.

Miscellaneous

[22] Character Plans & Hopes: Funny moments, make up lots and lots of stupid shit, use his Fuck Suit to do random "sci-fi" stuff like create/manipulate objects etc., kill bitches.

[23] Weapons

Tier 1 Weapon (10 ATK)

Name: Code GAEL: Gay Ass Eye Laser

Tier: 1

Description: An extremely hi-tech pink contact lens that fires instantaneous lasers that pierce most materials. Can be fired with a one second cooldown.

Tier 2 Weapon (8 ATK)

Name: Code BOMB: Ballistic Obstructing Mobile Bastion

Tier: 2

Description: His suit becomes fully enclosed and can endure incredible damage... he then straight up regular ass punches people or headbashes them with his extremely durable form.

Tier 3 Weapon (6 ATK)

Name: Code GOD: Gas of Death

Tier: 3

Description: His helmet partially rises as a putrid smelling gas is shot out from his wrists. A special guard around his mouth and nose filters the air that would otherwise burn his lungs and throat.

Tier 4 Weapon (5 ATK)

Name: Gun

Tier: 4

Description: It's a fucking gun.

[24] Traits

Note: The traits list is still being expanded upon. You'll be notified once it's finalized.

Trait #1

Original Trait Name: Bomb

Cost: 10

Character Trait Name: Code ASS: Area Strike Sequence

Trait Explanation: A small, easy to carry beacon that is placed on the ground. Anything previously met, identified, or programmed into it are hit with a wide area of effect frequency that causes the miniature explosions around their body. It unfortunately does not discriminate thus attacks Mephisto and any allies he might have as well.