

Pointers.

Good reviews

"I love it !!! Is sooo comfortable and stylish. They look like the everlane ones and is half the price

"I usually love them as a walking shoe and would live them as a running shoe"

"im not a runner, but I just need an aethetc shoe that has great arch support and overall foot support for walking on concrete, any suggestions"

"... Just got mine today they look sweet, gonna use them for light hiking and running too. Was using Columbian boots now they are to heavy..."

Bad reviews

"

"I ordered these shoes in 2 colors. The black were fine. Though not as comfortable as Aerosoles should be. The bone colored shoes were awful! They are bigger, wider, they gap when I walk and are altogether a bad purchase. I spend a lot on them and will not be wearing them "

" These shoes look nice but they run very small. I ordered a half size up initially and they were too small. Reordered another half size up and they are still tight. I am hoping since they are very soft that they will stretch enough to be comfortable "

"Nice dressy flat, but too large I had to return them and buy a different pair in a 7.5 rather than an 8."

Janny is an awesome girl who lives In a busy town, and she always has to commute for work on a regular/ daily basis.

Janny believes that there can never be success Without hard work and self confident in one's s self she both tries to work hard and look her best.

Janny seems to have come across one tiny problem, she always feels tired, and has her energy levels drop to almost zero

As a result negatively impacting her confidence, she' s also very self conscious because her shoes exude a tiny tiny odor

She believes it's the many hours spent walking in the so very tight and not so well supportive shoes that make it difficult for her to walk fast, and produce a scent because the shoes don't allow free air circulation, firstly because the shoes are heavy, secondly they don't make her feel her! Hence hindering her confidence.

She believes that once she just finds the right shoes, she will be light as a feather, she will be the glow in the dark rooms
, she will be the more productive and she will even be able to do what she loves most and that's jogging because the shoes will be light and she will be fast as lighting speed, and most importantly not have to worry about scent.

She is just looking for the right shoes that will be perfect for her not so expensive not so cheap,