- Literally almost anything that isn't morally absurd

Won't

- Anything too extremely immoral

Maybe

- Smut (HUGE maybe. Beware that it most definitely won't be amazing as I don't write it often.)
- Works for fandoms I'm not part of/ships I don't agree with (depends on fandom/ship)
- Yumeships with my own yumes (depends on how close we are as friends/oomfs)

Ownership

- I reserve the right to post the work on any platform as long as it is stated as a commission.
- You may post on other platforms WITH CREDIT.
- May draw for or add on to the piece! (Send it to me, I want to see!)

NOTE

- I'm up to do collabs or exchanges as well! Art, music, writing, etc.
- If I go over the set word count on my own, I will not ask for more than the set price.
- I may think of ideas/additions to the given prompt. I will always ask first before I incorporate them, please let me know how extremely off-topic you're okay with me going.
- Commissions are first come first serve. Please be patient if you aren't the first person on my list! I'm only one person, and I have an extremely long school day on top of these commissions as well.

Process

1. Idea and base information (word count, characters, relationship, vague outline, etc.) provided, along with proof that you can pay the commission price.
2. Outline will be written and shared and, upon customer approval, half of the payment will be sent upfront.
3. Allow time for me to write. Please don't rush me, it just makes it less likely for me to focus on the piece. Normal time for regular writing depends on the word count of the piece and my interest in it. I will give updates on the piece's progress if you would like. I will also occasionally ask questions about how you want a specific thing to be like in the piece. (Ex. Would X character act like this in Y situation with Z character?)
4. When the piece is finished, payment will be given and doc/files shared immediately after.
